Corporation Plans For Natural Gas Flow Into Region

Permission Will Be Sought With Federal, Private Sources to Get Use of Fuel

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation announced today that an important step has been taken toward bringing a supply of natural gas to its franchise territory. A decision of the Federal Power Commission of May 25, 1949, permits the Home Gas Company, a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas System, to build a gas transmission line from Port Jervis to Orangeburg. This line, carrying natural gas from West Virginia and Texas, will reach a point only 24 miles from Newburgh. If Central Hudson can arrange with Home Gas for an adequate supply of natural gas and if the Federal Power Commission gives approval of the project, it will be possible for the company to build a transmission line from this point to carry natural gas into its own transmission system.

Company officials explained that to change Central Hudson's gas equipment for natural gas use would require the company to put an additional $1,850,000 into its gas business. This money would be spent for new transmission lines and for adapting present gas generating sets to the manufacture of gas of 1,000 British thermal units per cubic foot, the heat content of natural gas. The converted sets would be used during periods of extremely cold weather and for standby emergency purposes.

Use of natural gas would also require changes in all gas equipment used by Central Hudson's customers. The cost of making these changes, approximately $600,000, would be borne by the company. In spite of change-over costs, natural gas, if obtainable, should permit eventual reduction of Central Hudson's gas rates.

Will Dust Corn With Helicopter Saturday

William Palmer, county agricultural agent, announced today that a helicopter will be used Saturday morning during a demonstration of dusting a sweet corn area in Stone Ridge.

Palmer, who invited all interested persons, especially fruit and vegetable growers to attend the demonstration, said it would be held on the Francis Davenport farm beginning at 6:30 a. m. The complete demonstration will last about three-quarters of an hour.

The helicopter, one of the first used in this area, was recently employed in vegetable crop dusting service in Buffalo.

New Yorkers Buy Elissa Landi Home

New York Manufacturer and Wife Plan Some Improvements

Sale of "Bright Acres," home of the late well-known actress Elissa Landi in the town of Ulster, to Samuel Godfried and his wife, Anna Godfried of New York was confirmed today by Harry Gold, Kingston attorney who represented the seller.

Godfried, New York manufacturer, plans to make extensive improvements and will use the property as a year around residence.

Title to the 123-acre property was closed on Wednesday. Muhlstock & Blei, New York attorneys, represented the purchaser and title insurance policy was issued by the City Title Insurance Company of New York.

This property was purchased in 1939 by Elissa Landi from Charles Williams and includes a historical old stone house which was extensively improved by Miss Landi.

The contents of the house were sold at public auction on June 4 and included many rare pieces of furnishings which had been owned by the famous actress of stage and screen. Five per cent of the proceeds of that sale will go to the Chicago Tumor Institute to further the research in cancer, the disease from which the actress died on October 21, 1948. At the sale in addition to furnishings from the Ulster county home, there were many articles from her houses in London, Hollywood and her New York city apartment.

No announcement was made as to the purchase price of the estate.

Violations of SEC, Conspiracy Are Charged in Indictment

Chicago, June 10 (AP)—Preston T. Tucker, promoter of a novel automobile that never got into mass production, today was indicted on charges of mail fraud, S.E.C. violations and conspiracy. Seven associates were indicted with him.

A 31-count indictment was returned before Federal Judge John P. Barnes by a grand jury which spent 12 weeks since Feb. 12 investigating affairs of Tucker and his corporation.

Maximum possible penalties for conviction under the indictment would amount to 155 years imprisonment and $60,000 in fines for each of the eight defendants.

The counts are 25 of mail fraud, five of violating regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and one of conspiracy.

Other defendants with the 46-year-old president and director of the Tucker Corporation are:

Harold A. Karsten, 58, alias Abraham Karatz, 11522 Morrison street, North Hollywood, Calif., former Minneapolis lawyer;

Floyd D. Cerf, 60, Chicago, former investment banker, who floated the public issue of stock in the corporation;

Robert Pierce, 50, Detroit Athletic Club, Detroit, formerly associated with Briggs Manufacturing Company of Detroit, and former director and treasurer of Tucker.

Fred Rockelman, 63, Chicago, who held the posts of director, general sales manager and executive vice president of Tucker Corporation. He had been associated with Ford Motor Company and Chrysler Corporation for more than 27 years;

Mitchell W. Dulian, 55, Oak Park, Ill., a former director and general sales manager of Tucker;

Otis Radford, 45, Evergreen Park, Ill., a former Tucker Corporation director, treasurer and comptroller. He formerly worked for Detroit banks and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation;

Cliff Knoble, 50, Chicago, who served as director of advertising for Tucker Corporation. He formerly was with Chrysler Corp.

The indictment charges that a total of $28,000,000 was spent by the defendants on the promotion and building of the car. The sources of the money were sales of dealer franchises, sale of Class "A" stock and accessories for cars sold before delivery of the automobiles.

Judge Barnes fixed bond at $25,000 each for Tucker, Cerf, Pierce and Karsten. The bail for the others was set at $10,000 each.

The defendants are accused of taking advantage of the unusual post-war consumer demand for cars and spreading "false and fraudulent statements and representations relating to a proposed completely new automobile * * * which was represented to possess and combine features of advanced construction and design not heretofore contained in any mass produced automobile."

Mayor Vetoes Referendum Proposal on Local Housing

Resignation Of Hoffman Demanded

Senator McKellar Yells at Director of E.C.A., Tells Him Act Best for Nation

Pressure Is Denied

Outburst Follows Early Statement Hoffman Would Resign

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Senator McKellar (D.-Tenn.) today shouted at ECA boss Paul Hoffman: "The sooner you resign, the better it will be for the United States."

The veteran chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee openly accused Hoffman of trying to bully the committee into not cutting European recovery funds.

Hoffman coldly denied he tried to put any "pressure" on the committee or that his talk of resignation was a "threat."

Hoffman had told reporters yesterday he would resign if he reached the point where he no longer thought he could direct the recovery program successfully. And he said he did not think it could be done with less than the $3,568,470,000 that ECA is asking for the first 10 and one-half months of the next fiscal year.

McKellar brough up the subject early in today's hearing on the ECA appropriation, saying:

"Other than giving away other people's money, I wonder what you are doing in Europe. I think it would be a very good thing if you did resign."

Some senators said they will press for a cut in the recovery funds even if it means Hoffman's resignation.

The ECA chief yesterday gave the Senate Appropriations Committee a hint—which he confirmed later to reporters—that he will quit if recovery funds are cut too much. He was recalled to continue his testimony this morning.

Senator McKellar (D.-Tenn.), committee chairman, said Hoffman had shown "a very improper attitude" and was trying to "put pressure" on the committee. "I doubt the committee will be threatened," McKellar said.

Senator Maybank (D.-S. C.), chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, said "Hoffman is a good man but I'm going to vote for a cut."

The House voted $3,568,470,000 for the recovery job, with authority for the E.C.A. to spend the money in 10½ months if necessary.

Hoffman told the Senate group he would try to get along on this amount although he believes it will take $4,000,000,000 for the full 12 months.

"I wouldn't want the responsibility of carrying out a program I don't think can be done for less than $4,000,000,000," he said.

Senator George (D.-Ga.) said he would favor spreading the 3,568,000,000 over the entire year.

Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) had no comment on the situation but he is understood to feel it would be a "calamity" to lose Hoffman. He has been a strong admirer of Hoffman's work.

Rumors have been floating around Washington that Hoffman might resign after getting the European recovery program started on its second year. But he left no doubt that he will quit immediately if there is any substantial cut in the E.C.A. money.

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Harold L. Ickes, former secretary of the interior, showed up today as a defense witness in Judith Coplon's espionage trial, but was excused udntil later. Ickes responded to a subpoena issued by Archibald Palmer, Miss Coplon's attorney. During his brief stay in the courtroom Ickes told reporters that he doesn't know "a damned thing about it except what I see in the papers."

Ex-County Woman Is Jailed at Delhi On Check Charge

Mother of Seven Is Held for Grand Larceny; Awaits Action of Grand Jury

Mrs. Anna Kite, 46, of Shavertown, formerly of New Paltz, was arrested at Walton last week on a grand larceny charge which charged she had passed worthless checks.

The arrest was made by Chief of Police Alton Anderson of Walton who had been notified that Mrs. Kite was driving a car in Delaware county which has been registered in Ulster county. When Chief Anderson spotted the license he questioned Mrs. Kite and officers of the Hamden National Bank of Walton identified Mrs. Kite as the person who had cashed a $350 check at the bank. State Police were also called in on the case and said another check for $88 had been cashed at a Walton grocery and another for $11 at a Walton shoe store. Police also stated Mrs. Kite was wanted in Poughkeepsie in connection with a check transaction.

Taken before Justice of the Peace Robert Hudson at De Lancey, she waived examination and was held to await action of the grand jury. She was committed to the Delaware county jail at Delhi.

Mrs. Kite is the mother of seven children.

Carpenters Say Democrats Offer 'Political Paradox'

Hudson Valley Council Says Opposition to Housing Strange Affair

A "political paradox" on public housing exists between the Democratic party locally and the same party nationally, says a statement issued by the Hudson Valley Council of Carpenters.

The statement was issued today following a meeting of the group last night in the Stuyvesant Hotel.

The statement in full says:

"The continued opposition of the Democratic Party of Kingston to a Public Housing Program has created a strange political paradox. The Democratic Party nationally, is presently advocating a billion dollar housing program, it has repeatedly attacked the reactionary forces of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, it has preached against racial and religious prejudice, it has held its

Burglars Enter Route 28 Garage

Tires, Keys Are Missing; Coin Boxes in Vending Machines Untouched

Gil's Garage on the Onteora Trail (Route 28) just past the Kingston city line was entered and burglarized some time early today, according to a sheriff's office report.

Although evidence indicates the thief tried to pry open cigarette vending machines in the office, the only items reported missing this morning pending a more complete inventory were two automobile tires, Kelly-Springfields, size 6.00-16. In addition several car keys were taken, including the keys to Gil's service car.

A small pane of glass above the lock on a rear window in the office was broken, indicating that the thief gained entrance by reaching through the broken pane, releasing the lock and raising the window.

Two vending machines in the office bear marks showing they had been tampered with, but the coin boxes in the machines had not been reached.

The burglary was discovered this morning and reported to the sheriff's office by A. W. Gilbert, proprietor of the garage. Clayton Vredenburg, county investigator, and Leonard Belmore, county identification officer, were assigned to investigate.

Eastland Gets Huffed

Washington, June 10 (AP)—In an angry scene, Senator Eastland (D-Miss.) dismissed C. B. Baldwin, who was Henry Wallace's campaign manager, from the witness chair of the Senate hearing today and called him an S.O.B. in the full-words version. Baldwin had refused to answer a question whether or not he is or has been a member of the Communist party, and had accused Eastland of "fighting against Negro rights." Baldwin, former administrator of the Farm Security Administration, also had shouted that Eastland represented "The Cotton Council," an organization which Baldwin said is made up of "plantation owners."

Veto Based On Opinion Of Counsel

Connelly Says Move Is Improper Under Laws and Court Rulings, Up to Council

Law Is Not Local

Statewide Demands Are Another Factor in Matter

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today vetoed the Buboltz-Coughlin resolution which calls for a referendum on local public housing.

The veto was based on an opinion of Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly which said that "the referendum adopted by the Common Council on June 7, 1949, is unauthorized and improper under the existing laws and court decisions and that it is the sole duty and responsibility of the Common Council to approve or disapprove the plan recommended by the Kingston Housing Authority and approved by the State Division of Housing."

The six Democratic votes in the council plus the vote of Twelfth Ward Alderman James E. Martin (R.) passed the "referendum" resolution last Tuesday night. It was offered by Fourth Ward Alderman John Buboltz and seconded by Seventh Ward Alderman Thomas F. Coughlin, both Democrats.

Alderman Buboltz is the minority member of the council's Finance Ways and Means Committee to which all housing proposals have been referred for the past several weeks.

The corporation counsel's opinion stressed that adoption of the resolution "is an invalid exercise of the legislative power of the Common Council, for it is a well established principle of law that a local legislative body cannot change stated law and especially by the adoption of a resolution."

The opinion also holds that "what is being considered here does not purport to be a local law," and he proposed that while it is no point on the validity of the council's action," consideration should be given the fact that by the time of the election to be held on November 8, 1949, a referendum might be purely academic."

The corporation counsel stressed that "There is a constant call from other cities for loans from the State Division of Housing for public housing plans or projects," and "it would seem questionable" whether the State Commissioner of Housing will continue his approval of the plan until that time.

The "referendum" resolution was adopted Tuesday in preference to a second finance committee majority report favoring immediate action on public housing. The first majority report of the committee also favoring immediate action, was defeated and a minority report delaying action, was adopted at the May meeting of the council.

The opinion of the corporation counsel and the Buboltz-Coughlin resolution follow in full:

June 9, 1949

Hon. Oscar V. Newkirk,
Mayor's Office,
City Hall,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mayor Newkirk:

This office is in receipt of your request for an opinion concerning the validity of the referendum proposed in a resolution adopted by the Common Council at its regular meeting held on June 7, 1949. This resolution proposed that the plan recommended by the Kingston Housing Authority and approved by the State Division of Housing should be submitted by referendum for the approval or disapproval of the voters at the election to be held on November 8, 1949.

The subject of public housing, including the necessary approval of a housing plan or project, is covered by the provisions of the Public Housing Law of the State of New York. In section 150 of such law, the Legislature of this state provided, in part, as follows:

"1. The prior approval of the local legislative body and the planning commission, if any, in the manner hereinafter provided in subdivision two of this section, shall be requisite to the final adoption or approval by an au-

O'Dwyer Draft Movement Called Off at His Request

New York, June 10 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer has declared definitely he will not run for re-election under any circumstances, and a draft movement has been called off at his request.

The mayor's new and emphatic declaration left the question of who will head the Democratic city ticket next fall completely open.

A number of Democratic possibilities have been mentioned. And the Republicans, Fusion forces and minor political parties have been talking about a lot of names.

The mayor, addressing 500 invited leaders of the "Draft-O'Dwyer" movement at city hall yesterday, told them that "no matter how big the number of petitions signed will be, I will not run."

The draft movement then was called off by its organizer, John A. Coleman, former chairman of the board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange and a personal friend of the mayor. Draft chiefs included business and union labor leaders, public officials and others.

The mayor told the draft movement leaders of "many reasons" for his decision not to run, but the only one he discussed was his health and the strain of his "rugged" job. He said the job takes 14 hours a day—"not including banquets."

The 58-year-old mayor, who was under treatment for a heart ailment last year, said he could not "in good conscience" accept renomination with the possibility that "something might happen" to

Gwinn Withdraws His Bill To Strengthen United Nations

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Rep. Gwinn (R.-N.Y.) is withdrawing his sponsorship of a bill designed to strengthen the United Nations and develop a world federation with powers adequate to preserve peace and prevent aggression.

Gwinn, announcing his decision in a statement yesterday, said:

"I now find myself associated with a group endorsing the very thing I opposed; namely, a Socialist planned economy by world government."

He said the measure he introduced and another virtually identical, which he joined in sponsoring—had been "misused" in an advertisement appearing in Wednesday's New York Times.

The advertisement was placed by the United World Federalists for a mass meeting it is holding in New York's Madison Square Garden tonight.

Gwinn's statement, announcing his decision, follows:

"Within the last 48 hours I have had a perfect demonstration of how a sincere and honest effort to prevent mass murder through an inter-national policy force can be twisted by the Socialist elements to advance their own plot for a Socialist dominated world planned government.

"I have always opposed any such plan. Yet I have for more than 2 years advocated a resolution by this House to strengthen the United Nations in its efforts to organize an international police force under law to stop the production of the instruments of mass aggression and war.

"I now find myself associated

Nixon Will Ask Keeney Be Tried

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Rep. Nixon (R.-Calif.) said today the House Un-American Activities Committee will urge that Philip O. Keeney be prosecuted for trying to leave the country without a passport.

"The committee is dead serious about pressing this matter with the Justice Department," Nixon told newsmen. "It appears to me that Keeney's attempt to leave without a passport was a criminal violation."

Nixon said, too, there should be a full scale investigation of operations of the Polish Liner Batory, the ship on which Keeney booked passage. Communist Gerhart Eisler fled the country on the same ship.

Keeney is a 58-year-old New York librarian who testified yesterday he had been unemployed since the army fired him in Japan in 1947 for reasons he never has learned.

Keeney's wife, Mary Jane, also appeared before the committee. She said she once had Gerhart and Mrs. Eisler to dinner. She added that she herself is no Communist.

Keeney told the lawmakers that after he lost his job in Japan he was offered one in Czechoslovakia, but couldn't get a passport from the State Department.

He said he tried to leave anyhow, after Mrs. Carol King, a New York lawyer, told him a passport was not required by law. But when Keeney tried to board the Batory he was turned back by a government official.

The committee spent all day yesterday questioning Keeney and his wife, who is on the United Nations editorial staff.

For today, the committee switched back to hunting for atomic espionage. Officials said atomic scientists David Bohm of Princeton and Giovanni Rossi Lomnitz of Fisk University at Nashville would be heard for sure. They have been waiting for three days.

Lomnitz and Bohm have appeared at closed door committee sessions before and declined to answer various questions on grounds they might tend to incriminate themselves.

Six Airmen Perish

Tokyo, June 10 (AP)—Six U. S. airmen and a Japanese died yesterday when their 63-foot rescue boat caught fire off the east coast of Japan, the air force reported today. Cpl. Albert N. Duffield, Jr., Willow Grove, Pa., was the only survivor. Names of victims were withheld.

WorldGovernment Urged at Garden Rally of 10,000

New York, June 10 (AP) — A world government — with power to enforce its decisions—was urged last night at a rally of 10,000 persons at Madison Square Garden.

The rally was sponsored by the United World Federalists.

A dozen speakers told the gathering that mankind's only salvation from the horrors of modern war lies in establishment of a global federation.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas said the system of world government should be built around the United Nations with room in it for both American and Russian theories.

The federation, he said, "must be neither an instrument of free enterprise to crush or thwart socialism, nor the instrument of socialism to destroy western capitalism."

Present methods of trying to insure peace, he said, "are old and shop worn," and in the past have always ended in war.

Other speakers included Carlos P. Romula, Philippine delegate to the U.N., Rep. Jacob K. Javits (R.-N.Y.) and A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Cord Meyer, Jr., president of the U.F.W., said the introduction in the House of Representatives last Tuesday of a resolution advocating world federalism had turned "ideas to action."

In Washington yesterday, the House resolution lost one of its original 91 sponsors when Rep. Ralph W. Gwynn (R.-N.Y.) announced he no longer would support it.

He said the U.F.W. supported "a socialist planned economy" and that he strongly opposes this.

"FLASHBULBS" OVER MANHATTAN—The Air Force created this "string of pearls" over New York City in an aerial photography experiment. This time exposure shows the series of photoflash cartridges dropped by a B-17 bomber. The bright bursts of light, each representing 50,000,000 candlepower, were set off at intervals of about four seconds. They were accompanied by sharp reports, but forewarned New Yorkers calmly watched the show. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent Andy Lopez.)

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Lucky Lead Wins Slam Bid Here

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Meeting an old friend brings back memories. I dropped into the cocktail room at the Hotel Elysees in New York city the other night, and who was sitting at the piano, but Bruce Raeburn.

I think he has one of the best night-club routines in the country. He ends it with a song that is becoming quite popular now, "It's a Big, Wide, Wonderful World." Nancy Noland, who first sang it in "All in Fun," gave Bruce this song back in 1941, and it has been his theme song ever since.

Bruce is one of those card players who thinks that pinochle is a better game than bridge, and that a little pinochle works well on a bridge hand too.

In today's hand the first thing that cause his eye was the queen of spades—so he immediately looked for the jack of diamonds. That's pinochle. When his partner opened the bidding with a club, Bruce said, "holding pinochle I decided to go places."

He took it easy on the first bid, but when his partner bid one heart, Bruce made a jump to three clubs, deciding that no matter what South bid after that, he would bid six hearts.

The opening spade lead let declarer make seven-odd. Three rounds of trumps were taken, then six rounds of diamonds, all of declarer's clubs going on the diamonds. One club was trumped and the other discarded on the ace of spades.

Of course, if a club had been opened, it would have been a different story.

Daniel R. Soper, retired U. & D. Railroad conductor who died Tuesday at his home in Kingston, was known to many persons in the reservoir country because of his 42 years of service on the local railroad. He was a grandson of Daniel Soper whose 38-acre farm lay along the Plank Road at Olive, a short distance below the present Ashokan depot. Dan and his brother, Elbert, used to visit their grandparents and played baseball with the Olive Branch team. The bothers' boyhood home was a house on Fair street where the Penney store now stands.

The death of Ada Cudney in Kingston Tuesday, as reported in The Freeman, came as a shock to many residents of this section where Miss Cudney was born. She was a daughter of the late Cyrus Cudney, a farmer of the Touche Mountain neighborhood and one time commissioner of highways. Sympathy is extended to Ray Cudney of Ashokan, a brother, and other surviving relatives.

Having a birthday soon are Patrick Carpenter and Mrs. Robert DuBois, whose natal anniversaries fall on Friday, June 10, and Monday, June 13, respectively. "Pat," who did most of his summer months' "growing up" in Shokan, was born at Far Rockaway and lives in Richmond Hill. The youngest of four children of James and Anna (Loos) Carpenter, he attends St. Benedict Joseph School and aspires to be a farmer, preferably in good old Shokan. . . . Margaret DuBois is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Grosman, formerly of Shokan and now residents of Miami, Fla. She attended the Olive No. 3 and Kingston high schools. Mr. and Mrs. DuBois have a son, Roger, who is in his second year.

TRUTH IS STRONGER THAN FICTION

It's graduation time again. Across the land, young men and women getting out of college are being advised by our leading citizens how to meet the world.

Graduates are being told these are troublous times, that the threat of war hangs over us, that freedom is in peril from communism, that population is outrunning world resources, that our health, security and education need new safeguards, that a hundred other dire circumstances prevail.

Most of this may well be true. Certainly there have been more restful moments in history.

But however bleak the outlook, the graduation speakers are not counselling a mood of hopelessness. Something can be done about it. Much depends, they say, on how the graduates themselves meet the challenge.

Nothing new in this kind of talk, of course. For long years every graduating class has been told to stick out its chin and face down the world. General exhortations to virtue are standard commencement fare.

We voice the fervent wish, however, that this time the speakers cut through the welter of the world's dilemmas and talk in simple, human terms that may serve as real guideposts to the graduates.

Here's one approach we think of offhand that we would like to hear:

"You students are leaving the college world, where truth is the great, single, unifying goal. You are entering the outside world, where truth competes openly and often violently with falsehood, half- truth, and propaganda. You will bump into baffling mixtures of these elements.

"If you are ever to play any useful part in bettering the world, learn quickly to recognize these cheap alloys that corrupt truth. Resist their intrusion into your own thinking. War upon them wherever you find them.

"Distortions of truth are a prized weapon in the battle of ideas raging today. But truth is stronger and will blunt that weapon, however lethal it sometimes is.

"You will need courage to combat the users of falsehood and propaganda. They will too seldom be your avowed enemies. They may be in positions of power. They may even be, on occasion, your friends.

"But if you flinch from fighting them, you will go down in the struggle to bring peace and order and justice to this complex world.

"Presuming you do stand up for truth, don't resort to your opponents' tricks to beat them. Propaganda is not the antidote for propaganda.

"Don't rely upon name-calling and label-pinning. People, like the world, are complex. No short labels fit them. They are not conveniently divided among saints and sinners. In their personalities they are white and black and all the shades of gray between.

"So think hard and long before you dust off those handy little badges labeled 'reactionary,' 'liberal,' 'fascist' and 'communist.' Judge people as total human beings, in the full light of their experience.

"If you can go out from here equipped with these attitudes, you will have made a big start toward helping crack the problems that beset us all."

CHANGING CAPITALS

The capital of the United States should be moved from Washington somewhere west of the Mississippi, says Frank Lloyd Wright, Chicagoan famed for his architectural innovations.

His reasons, while not clear, seem to derive from his dislike of Washington's buildings. He does not think there is a noble building in the capital. The only course, in his opinion, is to start out fresh.

In war it sometimes becomes inevitable to move a seat of government, as was twice the case in China in a little more than a decade. But changing a capital is normally one of the hardest of tasks.

The emperor Constantine was able to transfer the headquarters of empire from Rome to the newly built Constantinople. Later rulers of the Western Roman empire could choose to reside not in Rome, but in the provincial Italian city of Ravenna. Such changes, however, are ordinarily possible only when a dictator on top is the sole force to be considered.

The power of conservatism is great. Even after all they have gone through the western Germans have discarded the important city of Frankfort as the site of their capital, choosing instead the obviously makeshift location of the small university town of Bonn. Their real hopes are for a return to Berlin.

The nationalistic appeal of a traditional capital is great. While many arguments might be made for some other location, it would not be easy to persuade Americans to give up Washington.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

DON'T BE REASONABLE!

The other night we went out for a smoke between th acts of "Where's Charley?" in which one of my favorites, Ray Bolger, plays. The airs are catchy and easily hummable. So, on the sidewalk in front of every theatre on both sides of the street are two fellows, apparently natural-born barkers, who shout their heads off telling us not to buy anything from the concessionaires. Two policemen on horseback were present to protect the molesters.

I am sure that had any one of us demanded, as citizens and taxpayers, that we be permitted to enjoy our sidewalks without molestation, we would have been told that because these men represent a labor union, they are entitled to give us a headache, to make conversation impossible, to molest, disturb, distress us. We have no rights because only the hirelings of labor unions have rights. In a more manly period, some decent citizen would have cast these hoodlums into the gutter. But that today would be regarded as an impairment of free speech.

Then we walked for a block or two up Broadway. That night the Communist party had boys and girls, men and women, blocking the sidewalks, selling "Daily Workers," and announcing in loud voices that the trial of the 12 Communists in Judge Medina's court was a frame-up. They molested every person who walked along Broadway, shoving the filthy paper, Stalin's rag, into our faces. There were police present but they did nothing about it, although no one is permitted to sell anything on the sidewalks of New York without a license. I complained and was told to be reasonable, that these people were looking for trouble and that if anyone started anything, there would be a riot.

In a word, if an American citizen, not a stooge of Stalin, wants to walk a street or two, he has to submit to being molested because the police are afraid that the Communists will start a riot. Why don't the police arrest the Communists for molestation, for selling their miserable wares without a license, for obvious disorderly conduct? Because they are afraid that that will start a riot! In a word, because the police are afraid, the citizens have to suffer and that is called being reasonable. We have a few rights left—or do we?

And that applies to lots of things. My son, for instance, took a plane from New York to Norfolk, Va. It was a non-stop flight; yet, when he arrived in Norfolk, his bag was not there and at this writing, it has not been found. He was off on a criuse the next day and he was left without essential clothing, which he obtained with the greatest difficulty and with considerable unnecessary expense on a Sunday when the shops are closed in Norfolk by law.

There can be no excuse for their losing it. It is their business to carry passengers and their baggage from place to place, and it is up to them to do it right. They have no business losing anything unless there is a crack-up. The fact that the passenger can file a claim and get his money back has nothing to do with the subject. Again, one is told to be reasonable. There is no need to be reasonable, by which they mean considerate of carelessness, of inefficiency, and of the fear of employers to dismiss incompetent workers lest there be a strike.

I was told that lots of baggage gets lost on planes, on railroads and on ships. And for that reason I am asked to be reasonable. I refuse, in a railroad station, to let a porter take mine in with anyone else's. He either walks to the train with me or I carry my own. When I travel on planes, I watch as closely as I can. I am fussy and annoy the little officials who seem so important when everything goes right, and become hopelessly helpless when their mistakes show up.

The point is, don't be reasonable. Be a grump. The war is over and the inefficiencies to which we submitted, as a sacrifice during the war, need no longer be continued anywhere, for any reason.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

As the season for infantile paralysis (poliomyelitis) approaches, parents naturally are anxious and may wonder if there is anything they can do to prevent an attack. As some cases have been reported as caused by swimming in certain rivers or lakes near large cities, they may forbid their youngsters to go swimming anywhere, which takes the joy out of life for these youngsters.

Reports from authoritative sources state that the severe type of infantile paralysis is likely to occur where the youngster recently has had infected teeth or tonsils removed. As the period of the summer holidays is the most convenient time for removal of tonsils, parents are in a quandary as to whether to take a chance on leaving the infected tonsils in and so risk rheumatic fever and heart disease, or have the tonsils removed and so leave less chance of developing the severe and crippling form of infantile paralysis. While there are some noted children's specialists who advise removal of infected tonsils at any time, a large number advise that tonsils be not removed if within six weeks of the usual time for epidemics of infantile paralysis to occur.

Although the end of the battle against this dread disease is not yet in sight, all over the world laboratory workers and physicians are learning more and more about it, and that there are "varieties" of this disease instead of just the one as was formerly thought. Thus in the "Journal-Lancet," Minneapolis: Dr. A. F. Abt distinguished three broad types of acute poliomyelitis—namely—abortive, non-paralytic and paralytic. In the first or abortive form, as there are no symptoms present that are not present in other ailments of the nose, throat, and chest, there is no way the physician can recognize it. There is no disturbance of the nervous system so that lumbar puncture (inserting a needle into the spinal canal, and removing some of the fluid for examination) tells nothing.

In the non-paralytic and paralytic forms of the disease, the physician is able in most cases by examination of the spinal fluid and the presence of other sypmtoms, such as stiff neck and stiff back muscles, to tell if symptoms are due to poliomyelitis.

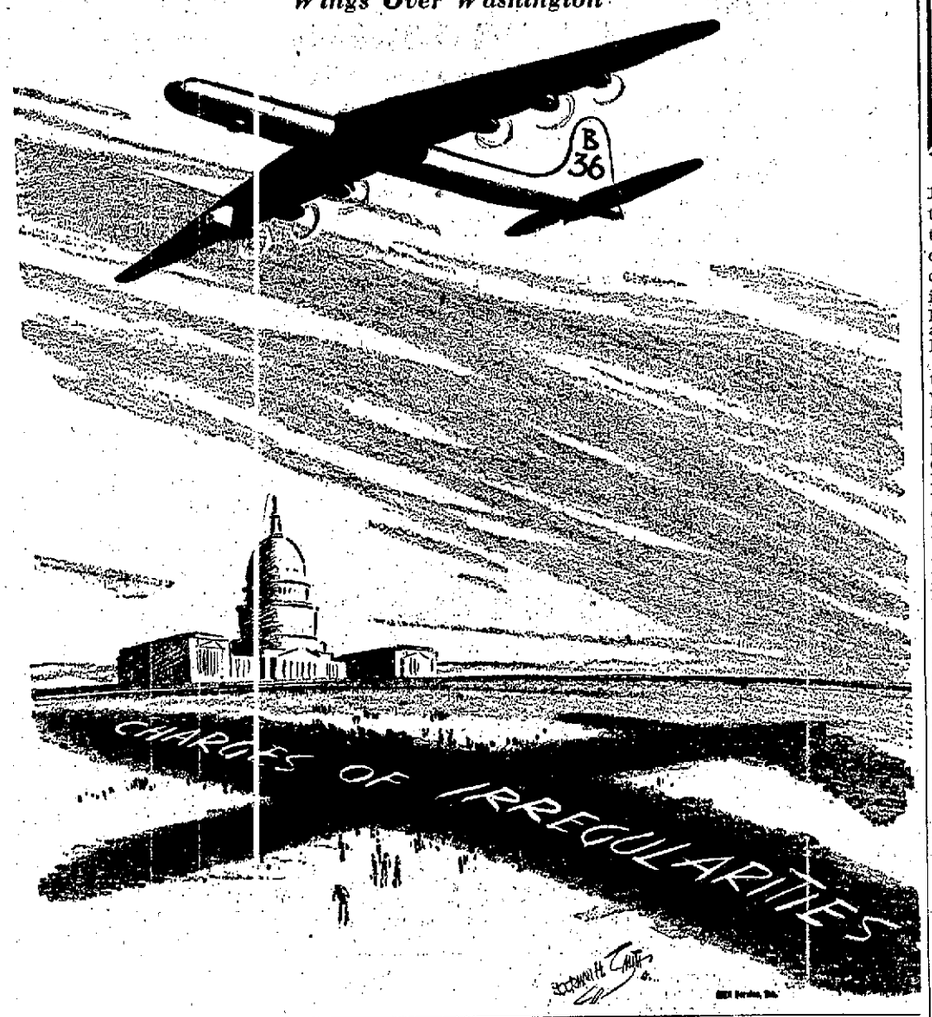

All parents can do is to watch their child, and if he suddenly becomes tired, can't eat and has sniffles, to call their family physician at once.

Anemia

Send today for Dr. Barton's leaflet on the two types of anemia. Wings Over Washington

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington—When Washington dignitaries gathered at dinner this week to commemorate the Marshall Plan probably only one man present really knew how the Marshall Plan got started—President Truman. And not even Truman knew or remembered all the details.

The birth of the Marshall Plan—believe it or not—was influenced by the illness of Senator Bilbo of Mississippi. Furthermore, this plan—now a great force in revitalizing Europe—was a complete accident as far as the White House was concerned.

President Truman had been scheduled to make a speech at Cleveland, Miss., in the winter of 1947 and called in Dean Acheson, then undersecretary of state, to ask if he could get him out of a jam. He explained that to please some of his wife's friends he had promised to speak in Cleveland, that the folks in Mississippi had made elaborate preparations, and that this was to be the biggest even in the town's history.

But, he said, he couldn't go. Senator Bilbo was back in the state, ill, after the Senate's refusal to seat him, and it would be political suicide, Truman felt, if he set foot inside the state at that time. He had written his Mississippi friends, he said, asking if they would accept a cabinet member instead, and they replied that they were greatly interested in foreign affairs and the only man they would take as a substitute was Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Acheson of course promptly accepted the President's personal plea, in fact told Truman he had been eager to make a major speech. But, he warned, it would be an explosive one.

Henry Wallace's Mistake

So, having in mind Henry Wallace's famous speech on Russia which was officially cleared with the White House, but which Truman himself didn't read, Acheson took great pains to have his speech carefully examined. He asked that it be read by the army-navy, by Economic Adviser Dr. Edwin Nourse, and by the Commerce Department, as well as by Truman. His strategy was to have so many cabinet experts read it that it would not be sent to Senators Tom Connally and Arthur Vandenberg whom he suspected might pour on the cold water.

The perusers of the speech later held a meeting. Since there was nothing in the speech about bases, the Army-Navy had no objection. Dr. Nourse suggested a few changes of figures, which were accepted. Secretary of Commerce Harriman, who had been talking to Acheson privately, was enthusiastic, while Truman was delighted that Acheson was getting him out of his Mississippi speaking jam.

After all this preparation, however, the speech got only two or three paragraphs buried inside the newspapers. Few people in the U.S.A. realized that Acheson had launched one of the most important policies since the U.N. or the Monroe Doctrine.

The British press, however, played up the story big. And as a result, Scotty Reston of the New York Times called on Acheson to ask whether this was a new American foreign policy.

"You had better ask the White House," Acheson replied.

Planted Question

So, at the next White House press conference, Reston asked a carefully worded question as to whether the Cleveland, Miss., speech represented Acheson's views or the administration's views.

Truman, still full of gratitude, and recalling that the Army, Navy, et al had approved the speech, replied that it represented administration policy.

A few days later, Acheson went to his chief, Secretary of State Marshall, and said in effect: "I have kicked a fairly important ball up in the air for you, but it's falling rapidly. How about catching it and scoring a touchdown?"

This led to another conference with Truman, then to Secretary Marshall's speech, which in the eyes of most people was the beginning of the Marshall plan.

After the speech, Acheson picked up a suggestion by Senator Vandenberg that a committee of prominent Americans be appointed to push the idea. Truman didn't like the suggestion, but Acheson argued him into it.

"Here is a man who more than anything else wants to get the Republican nomination for president, of the United States," he told Truman, in effect. "Of his other two rivals, Governor Dewey never says anything about anything, while Senator Taft never loses an opportunity to attack you on domestic issues and crab at you on foreign policy. Vandenberg has played the game very well on bipartisan policy, and you ought to agree to his idea in order to keep him sweet."

Thumbs Down on Hoover—Baruch

The President did agree, and a meeting was held to appoint members of a committee to serve under Secretary of Commerce Harriman. Vandenberg was present. Acheson said he didn't care who was on the committee just so long as Herbert Hoover and Bernard Baruch were not.

Vandenberg, however, looking over the suggested names, said he had nothing against them, but that what the committee really needed was an older statesman as chairman who commanded the respect of the country.

Quickly, Acheson asked Secretary Marshall if he could answer that question, then went on to say that the committee's job was not to sell every filling-station operator on aid to Europe, but to get the cooperation of labor and industry leaders. Therefore the committee should be composed of younger men who were influential with labor and industry. Once their support was enlisted, Acheson argued, the filling-station operators would fall in line.

Truman immediately agreed and Acheson's proposed committee was appointed.

And that was pretty much how the Marshall Plan really got started.

Merry-Go-Round

Keeping the record straight—the first congressman to attack airplane contracts was Clarence Brown of Ohio. What the public doesn't know is that Congressman Brown is a close friend and distant relative of ex-Congressman Harold Mosher of Ohio, who is the lobbyist for the Glenn Martin Company which manufactures navy planes but can't get much business from the air forces... Utah's Governor J. Bracken Lee, checking a report that his ancestors came over on the Mayflower, found that his supposed Pilgrim forebear was Richard Clarke—who died a bachelor... Secretary Acheson and Foreign Minister Bevin haven't been getting along too well at Paris. Bevin thinks Acheson is hogging the spotlight, got irritated when Acheson refused to go along with Bevin's plan for secret diplomacy.

Extension of Federal Power Over Business in 1937 Has Caused Some Quarters to Seek More of Such Authority

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 10 — Since 1937, when the Supreme Court of the United States rendered its historic decision broadening the federal power over business and industry, there has been a tendency in some quarters to seek federal power also over physical violence and disorder and to rely less and less on the states.

Now comes the Senate Committee on the judiciary to report favorably a bill that is designed on its face to punish police officers of the states for failing to protect persons charged with crime. The ostensible purpose is to prevent lynching, but the law is so drawn that it could conceivably protect citizens who are attacked on the picket line in labor disputes.

If the federal government is to protect one class of citizens, it logically follows it must protect all.

The crime of lynching, for example, is indefensible. Prodded by an indignant public opinion, many states in the south and elsewhere have sharpened up their procedures so as to protect criminals and assure them of a trial. But many groups in Congress are not satisfied with these efforts and hence legislation to punish sheriffs and police chiefs when they fail to do their duty has been recommended by a Senate committee.

The language of the bill is significant. The first sentence says:

"To guarantee, insofar as it lies within the constitutional power of the Congress so to do within the subject matter of this act, that each and every citizen of the United States be secured in the equal protection of the laws of the United States, and of the several states, and that no citizen of the United States be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, the Congress, in the exercise of all powers which it possesses, does hereby legislate with respect to the crime of lynching as hereinafter described."

Then follow some definitions and a "lynch mob" is described in terms that could as readily fit a mob on the picket lines in a labor dispute. Even if the courts should rule that depriving a citizen of his liberty by mass picketing is not exactly "lynching," the fact that the courts upheld one form of federal supervision of local crime would mean that it held constitutional any other measures of discipline the Congress might wish to apply to state or local police officers who fail to preserve law and order. It opens up a whole new field of federal power.

A "lynch mob" is defined in the bill as follows: "Any assemblage of two or more persons which shall, without authority of law, exercise or attempt to exercise, by acts of physical force against person or property, any power of correction, or punishment over any person . . . with the purpose . . . of imposing a punishment, shall constitute a lynch mob within the meaning of this act."

Again and again as innocent citizens are beaten up or their property damaged—often their autos are overturned or stoned at the factory gates—the police look the other way. Sometimes this is because the police chief is part of a political administration and the mayor gets his principal political support from labor-union votes. Sometimes it is the employer group which is in cahoots with the local police.

Not long ago the National Labor Relations Board, finding that a local police chief was affiliated with an employer company or was under the domination of such an employer, reached out and applied the National Labor Relations Act against the police chief. Whether the police chief was or was not an ally of the employer is not relevant to the constitutional issue. Up to now the federal government has not possessed the right to try local police officers for failing to do their duty or for pursuing local police functions which involved partisanship in labor controversies.

Certainly mass picketing has never been defined as a federal crime. The federal police power, however, has been exerted by Congress in the passage of a law forbidding employers to transport strikebreakers across state lines. It also has been applied by Congress in forbidding extortion or racketeering in interstate commerce, and the labor unions have sought repeal of this law.

Now for Congress to assert that it is constitutional for the federal government to punish local police officers introduces a deviation from accepted practice. The Supreme Court some day may be obliged to rule on the extent to which the federal government may back up the right of any citizen to live unmolested by any form of lynching or violence when local officers are indifferent.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, June 9—In "Human Events," the weekly pamphlet produced in Washington by Felix Morley and Frank Hanighen, Josee De Chambrun, the daughter of the late Pierre Laval, answers some disparagement written by Winston Churchill in "The Gathering Storm." Like the memories of Lloyd George, who held the same job in the first war, the Churchill papers will continue as long as he lives but with less profit to their author than the tight little Welshman squeezed out of his old diaries and chits. The dirty Socialists are confiscating receipts at the pay-window and when the lisping John Bull has been poured back into the bottle, there won't be enough estate to keep Randolph out of quod for speeding. Winthton thould have followed the Duke and Dutcheth of Winthor to New York where Britons of their station can live on the cuff and tip the bell-hops with autographs.

Again like the Lloyd George books, Churchill's memories are calculated to give their author none the worst of it where impartial judgment might. He seems to go even further than he need in shading his opinions of American grandees and I have to suspect him of further designs on the youth and riches of the United States for Britain's sake. He is just too damn nice to us. It ain't British. But that would be just like him, for he was one of the greatest patriots of the war, second not even to Hitler, and incomparably more loyal than many of ours.

If he can help to deliver us again to Britain's side, at whatever cost in flattery and self-respect, that will be a hat-trick of stupendous grandeur.

It is a sad fact for history and the intelligence of man that the survivor in such a controversy as the late great war gets all the say. Those who go down with the lost cause are discredited with it. In after years there is a little spading and piecing together of fragments, but the merits of the beaten people and their case are regarded as quaint relics for museums. Reasonable men, now grown older and wiser, are coming to agree with the hated "pro-Germans" of 1914-1918 that the United States had as much reason to fight the allies as the Germans and should have listened to Hearst and Henry Ford.

Josee De Chambrun's letter to Churchill picks up a remark of his that "Laval's later shameful record and fate must not obscure the fact of his personal force and capacity. He had a clear and intense view."

There is small recognition in that, so Laval's daughter tears into Churchill with great force, assisted, I suspect, by her husband, Rene, some sort of descendant of Lafayette, who sat out the phoney war in the Maginot Line but got into the wildest part of the rout of the British and French armies. Rene is a lawyer with some stringy connections with our own royal family. I remember his saying that he only wanted to see France free again and I gathered that he was quite willing to bargain, too. He had the honesty not to prattle about four freedoms everywhere nor to pretend that the U.S.A. was every true Frenchman's mother country!" Although he enjoys honorary citizenship here he is a Frenchman absolutely.

"How have you been able to speak of his (Laval's) 'shameful record and fate'?" Josee asks Churchill, "Is this one of those banal phrases that you felt obliged to write in devotion to a fashion already out-dated? Or was it merely to qualify your eulogistic judgment of my father, which could be shocking to some people? No, I believe you are too inde-

Against Debentures Sale

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Representative Celler (D-N.Y.) asked the chairman of the New York Public Service Commission yesterday to withdraw permission for the Long Island Lighting Co. to sell $16,000,000 of its debentures to four insurance companies without public bidding. Celler said the authorization to purchase the 20-year, 3¾ per cent sinking fund debentures had been given Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., and the Ætna Life Insurance Co. He said, "insurance companies have untold assets and if the practice of privately placed issues is not stopped I envisage the time when insurance companies will own most of our public utilities—lock, stock and barrel."

A.M.A.'s Fight Has Program of Own for Sickness

Atlantic City, N. J., June 10 (AP)—The American Medical Association's fight against enactment of compulsory health insurance legislation crystalized today in a program designed to encourage the expansion of lay-sponsored medical care plans.

The program was unfolded yesterday when the A.M.A.'s House of Delegates—policy-making body of the organization—adopted a set of 20 principles for lay-sponsored plans seeking A.M.A. approval.

Dr. James R. McVay of Kansas City, chairman of the A.M.A.'s Council on Medical Service, said the action was "a positive, decisive, progressive step" toward the expansion of voluntary health insurance.

Heretofore the A.M.A. has recognized only those medical care plans sponsored by its federated county and state groups. It has been indifferent to numerous plans operated by labor, farmer, consumer cooperative and other groups—including city governments.

Medical care plans cover doctors' fees of stipulated services but do not cover hospital expenses. Hospitalization plans, such as the A.M.A.-sanctioned Blue Cross, do not cover doctors' fees.

The 20 principles adopted here yesterday specify that medical care plans must be non-profit making, comply with A.M.A.'s principles of medical ethics, be adequately financed, be devoted exclusively to health service, have high quality personnel and employ only licensed physicians. It also is specified that:

"Any plan desiring approval under these principles shall agree to such periodic reviews and to abide by such regulations as may be deemed necessary by an appropriate accrediting body of the A.M.A. in consultation with representatives of the sponsors of the plan."

McVay's emphasized the A.M.A. itself would not sanction medical care plans without prior approval by county or state medical societies.

Immediately after the House approved the 20-principle plan, Dr. Dean A. Clark of New York, president of the Cooperative Health Federation of America, issued a statement saying the action would have been more significant if the A.M.A. had "assumed national responsibility in forthright fashion."

Clark's federation supervises the medical care plans set up by industry and some C.I.O. and independent unions, and one that covers New York city employes and teachers.

Dr. Elmer Henderson of Louisville, Ky., was chosen president-elect of the A.M.A. He will succeed Dr. Ernest L. Irons of Chicago next year. Irons took over the presidency last Tuesday from Dr. R. L. Sensenich of South Bend, Ind.

The closing session of the 98th annual convention today will be devoted to scientific sessions.

Seek Termination Of Double Parking

Woodstock, June 10—As a result of the numerous complaints received regarding the existing hazard on Neher street because of the double parking, the Town Board passed a resolution at a regular meeting Wednesday night to request county and state authorities for permission to change the parking regulations as applied to that street.

Authorization was approved by the board to have Constable George Reynolds on duty Saturday night until July 1 when he will be on duty six nights each week. George Schoeppler, handling traffic on Saturdays only so far this season, will go on regular daily duty Saturday, June 25.

Supervisor Wilson told members of the board that Consulting Engineer Keis was very optimistic about the possibilities of receiving favorable bids for the proposed water system in the village district. It was reported that 38 contractors applied for plans. The bids will be opened in the Town Clerk's office, Monday, June 30, at 3 p. m.

Correction in Breeding Pointed Out by Author

Woodstock, June 10—Lewis S. Brown, Kingston, author and illustrator of books on horses calls our attention to a correction in the breeding of War Calamity, stallion recently acquired by Smith Brothers Riding School, Saugerties. The letter reads:

"Dear Mrs. Hard—One of the things that I always read in the Freeman is the horse news in your column on Woodstock and surrounding territory. I am neither an equestrian nor a member of a local riding club, but in common with most people interested in horses, I like to know about and sometimes attend the local events.

"In your column of Thursday, May 19, you gave the breeding of War Calamity. I believe that you will find that War Craft was his sire rather than his dam. His dam was Danda, by the imported Dan IV. War Craft is a son of Man o'War.

"I am at the present time working on a small colored wax portrait statute of War Calamity. Though not lacking in spirit at exercise, I found his manners in his stall to be impeccable. Neither my measuring tape or clumsy calipers disturbed his dignity. From the top of his unusually fine withers to the bottom of his well shaped feet he proved himself to be the quiet, well mannered gentleman."

Caterers in Wrong House, Party Still Carries On

Woodstock, June 10—We hear from local artist, C. J. McCarthy who has an artistic way with food as well as oils, that he assisted Michael Linenthal in arranging for the party given Sunday afternoon for 250 guests from various communities in the mid-Hudson valley. McCarthy arranged for caterers and other such incidentals.

When Mac arrived at Linenthal's home the caterers had not put in their appearance. When the hands on the clock told Mac it was 2:30, he became quite concerned since the party was scheduled to begin at 3 p. m. After frantic telephone calls, Mac concluded the caterers had gone to the wrong house. He didn't realize how very right he was until he discovered they had set up shop in the house adjoining Linenthal's.

The guests began to arrive and it was too late to move the festive board and punch table so all remained. Imagine the surprise of the owners upon their return later in the afternoon to find 250 guests, caterers, et al, having a wonderful time. Could only happen in Woodstock.

Motorist Fined

He was charged with operating his autobile at a speed of 60 miles per hour in violation of Section 56 specifying a limit of 50 miles per hour.

To Lay Off 5,475

New York, June 10 (AP)—Because of the coal mine work stoppage ordered next week by United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis, the New York Central Railroad will lay off its approximately 5,475 car and locomotive shop employes. The railroad, which made the announcement yesterday, also said that loss of coal traffic would cause further layoffs, including some operating personnel, as business declines. The indefinite layoffs of the 5,475 employes will be effective Monday night.

Police on the Honeymoon

Paris (AP)—The newspaper "Espoir de Nice" tells how a honeymoon couple at Saint-Marc, near Brest, were rudely disturbed by police who broke open their door and dashed in with tommyguns. Apologies followed. It seemed that in putting out the light, they had accidentally sounded a burglar alarm connected with the local police station.

Hunt for Robbers Fails Thursday

A police dragnet spread in the Accord area Thursday failed to catch the two men who reportedly robbed Mrs. Gertrude Lyons of between $40 and $50.

The sheriff's department and state police sent men to the vicinity of the old Accord airport about 1 p. m. Thursday, shortly after the report of the robbery was received at the sheriff's office in Kingston, but neither department reported seeing the suspects, said to be driving an old model black Dodge or Plymouth automobile with New Jersey license plates.

Kingston and Ellenville police were also notified, but reported no trace of the automobile.

John Lyons of High Falls told sheriff's department men at 12:40 p. m. Wednesday that two men had held up his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Lyons and at gunpoint forced her to turn over to them all the loose cash in her home in Accord.

13 Prospects Are Questioned in Selection of Jury

New York, June 10 (AP)—A plan to speed up selection of a jury to try two alleged lonely hearts killers was put in effect in Bronx Supreme Court today.

The jury box was filled with 13 prospective jurors so that all of them might be questioned at the same time.

At the opening session yesterday, under the usual plan of individual questioning, only one juror was selected out of the 10 persons examined. He was Fred D. Yobs, an accountant, who automatically became foreman.

Justice Ferdinand Pecora ordered the group questioning—a method used in federal courts—to speed up the trial.

House Slams Expense Accounts of U. S. Senate

Washington, June 10 (AP)—The traditionally polite relations between the Senate and the House were strained today by House criticism of such senatorial privileges as free mineral water.

Resentment over Senate "miscellaneous" expenses including free shaves, haircuts and daily mineral water rations broke into the open yesterday during House debate on the annual bill for financing congressional activity.

The $62,200,000 measure cleared the House without alterations but not before the criticism was raised. And not until the House had voted an additional clerk and an extra $500 expense fund for each of its members.

Not in years have House members spoken so critically of their colleagues at the other end of the capitol. The unwritten rule is that neither branch publicly criticizes the other, and each approves the "housekeeping" programs of the other without question.

Dangers of Kite-Flying

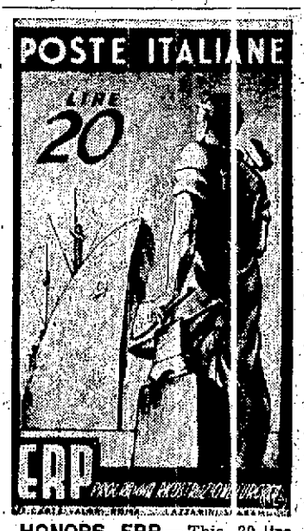

New York (AP)—It's easier for today's kite-flying youngsters to draw electricity down a kite-string than when Benjamin Franklin made his discoveries. For that reason, says Frank L. Jones, president of the Greater New York Safety Council, modern kite-flying can be far more dangerous. Jones says that if a kite comes into contact with power lines—which were non-existant in Franklin's day—it may conduct enough electricity to cause serious accidents. He warns against using thin wire or wire-threaded cord for a kite. If wet, ordinary string or cord will also conduct electricity, he says.

Bag Thief Bagged

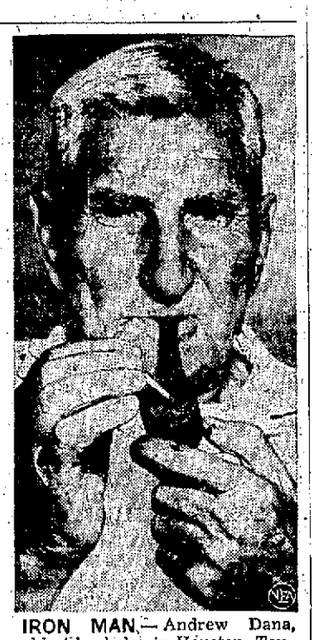

Bangkok (AP)—In the morning, two men posed as representatives of a business and made off illegally with 1,000 gunny bags valued at $425 from Chop Seng Hong Lee. That same afternoon, the same two men tried to sell the same bags to the same Chop Seng Hong Lee. The owner recognized his own property, and called police. One of the swindlers was captured.

374 Land Parcels In County Sale

At the tax sale of property conducted by County Treasurer Jay W. Rifenbary Thursday there were 374 parcels sold of which the county bid in 90. There was spirited bidding on several of the 284 parcels which were sold to individuals.

The sale, held in the supervisors' room in the court house was very well attended and at times the crowd was so large the overflow spread out in the corridor. Properties offered for sale were those upon which tax had not been paid. Prior to the sale several owners paid the tax due and the properties were consequently withdrawn from the sale.

Swimmers Overlook Death

Aalborg, Denmark (AP) — Four thousand people bathed in the big city swimming pool at Aalborg without noticing the body of a drowned boy. It was not until the swimming pool closed down at nightfall that the boy, 8 year old Freddy Petersen, of Aalborg, was found. He had been dead for hours.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 10 (AP)—The stock market went into a new decline today after three sessions in which prices either advanced or held steady.

Losses ranged from fractions to an extreme of around two points. The general price level dropped back to the 1948-49 low established on Monday in one of the worst setbacks of the year.

The volume of trading expanded a bit as prices declined but still was nothing to write home about.

Railroad issues were among the weakest, probably because of the potential effect of a prolonged coal mining stoppage on the income of transportation systems. Some roads have already announced layoffs as a result of the one-week coal miners' walkout scheduled for next week. Many observers fear the walkout will extend well beyond next week.

Running counter to the trend were Graham-Paige, Douglas Aircraft, North American Co., Johns-Manville, and American Tobacco.

Price changes in the bond market were inconclusive for the most part. Several U. S. government issues tended upward in over-the-counter dealings.

Pfeiffer Elated

State Chairman Pfeiffer was elated at the prospects for the dinner. He said at least 1,200 persons from the sixty-two county Republican organizations will be represented. He released a telegram of support from Representative John Taber of Auburn. Tabor praised Pfeiffer for his "young, aggressive leadership" and predicted that the party will "move ahead with a forward-looking policy" under his chairmanship.

Pfeiffer said the dinner, which he called the "largest dinner ever given in this state under Republican auspices," will feature a program of entertainment by leading Broadway performers and musicians.

Gwinn Withdraws

with a group endorsing the very thing I opposed; namely, a Socialist planned economy by world government.

"The nations of the earth today have no common concepts of individual rights so as to warrant the formation of anything comparable to a world government for general purposes. Nor do we have in the world today any common concepts of the proper limited functions of government."

"Because of the misuse of House concurrent Resolutions 64 and 72, (introduced) June 7, 1949, the very next morning in a 3 column advertisement of a mass meeting in Madison Square Garden, I am withdrawing the resolution introduced by me.

"I will not join in any other resolution until the words and phrases of it regarding the international police force are made so specific as to be free from misinterpretation by anyone."

prevent him from serving out a second four-year term.

O'Dwyer said, however, he is ready to pitch into the fall campaign in defense of his record. "I don't feel I am leaving the city in the confusion in which I found it," he said. O'Dwyer followed the late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia in office.

There has been talk that O'Dwyer might be receptive to a Democratic nomination for governor or U. S. senator next year. His first announcement that he would not run again for mayor was made last month.

Just a day before the mayor's definite "No" to the mayoralty draft movement, it had started a campaign to get 1,500,000 signatures on petitions asking him to run.

Carpenters Say

head high as the champion of labor, it has pointed with scorn to the activities of the United States Chamber of Commerce, it has advocated work programs to reduce unemployment.

"The Democratic Party in Kingston stands for very few of these things. In Kingston it opposes Public Housing. In Kingston it does not disclaim the propaganda of racial prejudice raised by some residents of the 12th Ward, neither does it disclaim statements that residents of the other wards of the City are not suitable to reside in the 12th Ward. In Kingston it opposes a program advocated by every labor union in the city. In Kingston it defeated a program that would have helped reduce the growing list of those who are now unemployed. Its action has taken away the bread and butter from the mouths of the families of workingmen who would have been employed on the Public Housing program. It has denied those families with low incomes the opportunity to raise their standard of living. By refusing a program of adequate housing, the possibility of new industries being attracted to Kingston is more remote than ever.

"Its resolution to refer the housing problem to the voters in November is an act of political cowardice and an attempt to shift its responsibilities.

"If such a referendum is held, the Democratic candidates will be required to be for or against a housing program. It is a matter of record that the present Democratic Aldermen are opposed.

"The Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters accepts the issue so clearly drawn by the Democratic Party and pledges its support for reelection of all those who have supported the proposed Public Housing program.

EDWARD J. DeVEAU

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE

While Eleanor and I were in Italy, we got into the habit of reading a toughie of a tabloid called the Rome Daily American, published by three ex-G.I.'s who pooled their shoestrings after the war and rushed in where millionaires fear to tread.

Figuring there might be a column in these gents, I invited them to lunch, and here's a rundown of their Sad Sack saga as I got it from their mouths and memories. . . .

Back in 1944, when Mark Clark's men were trying to hang on to a patch of sand at Anzio, a couple of G.I.'s, full of red wine and big talk, sat dreaming it up at a table in an off-limits cafe in Naples.

"What this antipasto of a country needs," said G.I. No. 1, "is an honest and honest-to-gosh newspaper."

"Roger and over," said No. 2. "What are we waiting for?"

"The end of the war," said No. 1, and extended his paw across the table.

The first G.I. was Jack Begon, 31-year-old printing boss of the Mediterranean Edition of Stars and Stripes, and his buddy, Lou Cortese, three years his junior, was serving his stint on the copy desk.

A few months later, this twosome became a threesome when Sgt. Bill de Meza of Plainfield, New Jersey, heard of the notion, caught fire and announced he stood ready to pool his pile of nothing with theirs.

In 1945, shortly after Mussolini got the upside-down-treatment in Milan, the three G.I.'s met, toted up the odd lira they had left over after buying PX rations, printed themselves some press cards, and announced they were ready to start making like Pulitzer.

Whereupon the Army told them to stop kidding and start packing—no soldier could be mustered out in Italy unless he had a bona fide job.

Nothing daunted, as the saying goes, Begon hooked up with International News Service, de Meza with the Red Cross and Cortese went to work as a motor pool attendant, but a few months later when the triumverate quit its jobs and opened an office, the fat really began to fry. For openers, the Rome advertising monopoly refused to let them handle their own ads; the man with the newsprint informed them he was fresh out of paper, and when it came to lining up news services and feature syndicates—well, all the boys got was advice on how to cure battle fatigue.

And so it went for months, but somehow, by scheming, dreaming, praying and talking fast, the trio finally managed to get the stuff it needed and, at midnight on March 16, 1946, the punchy partners watched a tubercular press cough out the first 5,000 copies.

Now, to a fellow in New York who is accustomed to having four independent newspapers dropped on his doorstep every morning, the Rome Daily American would be just an added starter, but in Italy, where the truth is usually regarded as something which needs a little fixing, the birth of a paper that didn't finagle with the facts was pretty startling. Promptly, the Commies tabbed it Fascist and, just as promptly, the Fascists labeled it Commie, but the three caperous G.I.'s, who had started from and without scratch, told them all where to head in and kept printing the unshellacked truth.

Today, their paper has a circulation of 35,000 and an honored spot on and under the newsstands of a couple of dozen adjoining countries. And what's more, the boys now own their own print shop, and when the Communist-controlled printers' union called a strike a while back that shut down every other paper in Rome, the American was allowed to keep publishing because, as the union leaders admitted, it reported the events of the strike with on-the-button accuracy—besides having excellent relations with its own hired hands.

I could trot out plenty of for-instances to prove that this hard-hitting gazette—operating very much as its brilliant big brother, the Paris Herald-Tribune—has become one of the most effective speaker-outers for our way of thinking in debris-dotted Europe. But I think you'll get the general idea when I tell you that it's nothing unusual to see a fact-famished Italian buy three papers—Unita for the leftist angle, Il Popolo for the rightist, and the American for the truth.

Ex-Model Escapes

Tuscaloosa, Ala., June 10 (AP)—A former New York fashion model, Mrs. Joyce Goode, 28, escaped from Bryce Hospital here Monday night. She was listed as "dangerous," Doctor Sidney Tarwater, acting superintendent said she apparently left by descending a rope which had been used by workmen repairing a diet kitchen. Hospital officials described her as a "strikingly beautiful" person.

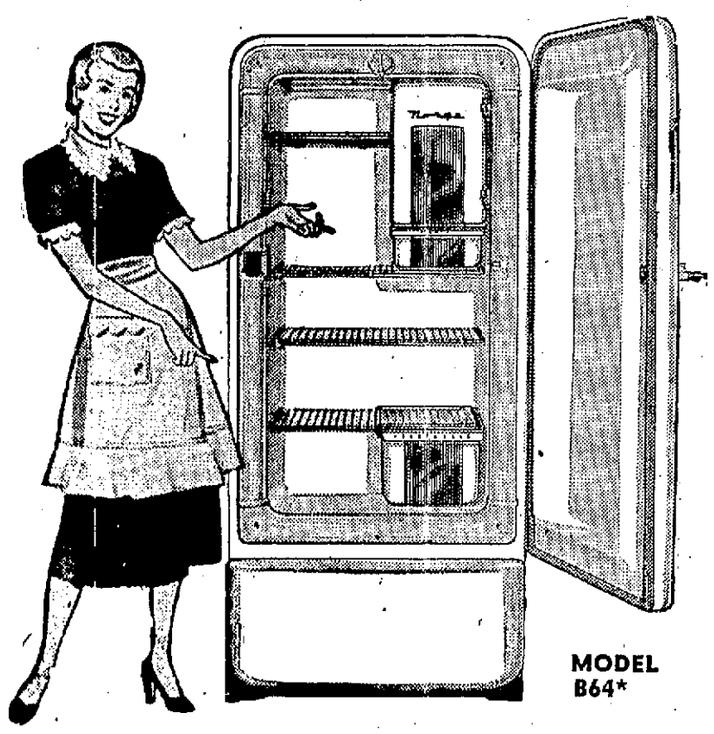

Belongings Are Stolen

New York, June 10 (AP)—For the second time this year, thieves have made a big haul from the personal belongings of ice skating star Sonja Henie. Yesterday, $35,000 worth of her sables and other clothing was stolen from a truck which was hauling the clothing to an air terminal for shipment to California. Police said thieves apparently broke into the locked truck at a traffic stop light. Last January, thieves broke into Miss Henie's hotel suite and took two mink coats valued at $18,000 and some jewelry.

The estimated population of Sweden in 1947 was only 6,803,000.

Friend—Who introduced you to your wife?

Man—We just met. I don't blame anybody.

An angry housewife caused two telephone linesmen to be arrested and brought before a Houston, Texas, judge to answer a charge of public profanity.

One of them explained:

Linesman—It was this way, judge. Red here was working above me on a pole, and I said, "See here, Red, that hot lead does not feel good dropping down my back. Please don't drop any more."

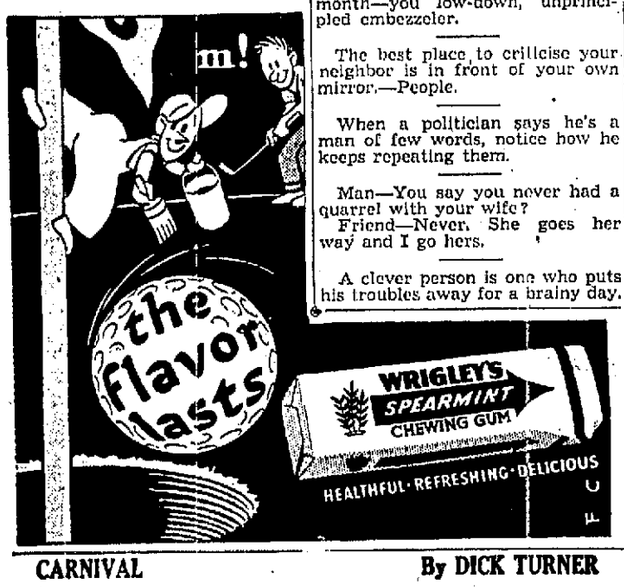

A conversation is like a good meal. You should leave it just before you have had enough.

—John Beekkman.

The dining room patron struggled manfully with a tough steak. Finally he gave up the battle and called the waiter over and demanded that the steak be taken to the kitchen and replaced with something eatable.

The waiter looked at the steak carefully and then shook his head:

Waiter—Sorry, but I can't take it back now. You've bent it.

The best place to criticise your neighbor is in front of your own mirror.—People.

When a politician says he's a man of few words, notice how he keeps repeating them.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

He Likes Germany Too

Frankfurt, Germany, June 10 (AP)—Another former G.I. wants to become a German citizen. He is German-born John Haverkamp, 42, who used to live in New York city, and he's in love with a German girl. "I have nothing against America," he said yesterday, "but I have no family ties there. I spent my boyhood here and now I have a job and this girl here, and I would like to stay." Haverkamp moved to the United States in 1929 but never became a citizen until after he had served in the American Army during the war. The other applicant for German citizenship—Daniel McCarthy, former U. S. soldier from New Hyde Park, N. Y.—was turned down by consulate officials Tuesday.

Show Girl Pays $100

New Bedford, Mass., June 10 (AP)—Candy Parker, 22, Boston night club entertainer, was fined $100 in Superior Court yesterday after she pleaded guilty to participating in an immoral show. Two co-defendants were acquitted, one Emerson Ramay, 32, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., master of ceremonies, charged with directing an immoral performance.

As Pegler Sees It

pendent and courageous to have obeyed such impulses. There remains only one possible explanation. You characterize the conduct of my father as "shameful" because it was not placed at the service of Great Britain, because he was exclusively preoccupied by the interests of his own country. Honor for a Frenchman, according to your definition, was to be obedient to British orders. Shame was to struggle, step by step, at Paris or at Vichy so that France might continue to breathe and live."

During those days, a few Americans pondered on their own conduct in the same circumstances that caught Laval and Petain. Would it be better for their countrymen, their homeland, to "collaborate" with a conqueror and thus save lives and preserve the physical assets of the United States—or throw themselves and the nation on the German bayonets? The British got all the good publicity in the United States, they and the fugitive Frenchmen who were brave enough to fight, no doubt, but, given their way, would have brought more misery on the people trapped at home.

The fact was that France had absolutely no belly for the Second World War and went dragging her heels to the front because the people deeply felt that they had been bungled into it by politicians who made stupid commitments. Communist regiments were quitting to the Germans without shooting even to make a noise because Stalin was Hitler's ally and they were loyal to the enemy and knifing Frenchmen in the back, yet, when it was over, Laval was shot while Thorez and a whole evil pack of traitors came hurrying back to claim honor for the victory and a power in the new government and nation. And the United States elaborately dealth with the Communists while we loathed the "Vichyites."

Josee de Chambrun covers that, too, when she reminds Churchill that her father wrote from his cell in August, 1945: "Henceforth Europe will be under a Russian hegemony. Germany with its regimentation, is politically prepared to receive the Soviet imprint. It is necessary to consider as a historical fact, formidable and unexpected by those who have prepared it, the installation of Communism in Europe."

Churchill the orator, writer and fighter, Churchill the patriot, was responsible, in a negative, submitting way for the fate of Europe that Laval foresaw although Laval was not alone. Many Americans knew that with Germany destroyed, Communism would rush westward. But Churchill was reduced to begging "like a puppy" in his dealings with Roosevelt and he had to concede everything for Britain's sake—just as Laval "collaborated" for the sake of France.

Twice, therefore, Communism has profited by the tragic necessities of the civilized nations of the west. The first time, the Germans let Lenin and his circle cross their country from Switzerland in 1917 to break up the Kerensky government which was trying to keep a few divisions in the war on the eastern front. The massacres of the best Russians came soon afterward and the scourge was loosed on the world. But the Germans were relatively innocent. They didn't know what Communism really was. Roosevelt and Churchill had no excuse. They knew.

Lawn Mower in a Vacuum

Altus, Okla. (AP) — It stopped traffic....but using an electric vacuum sweeper did the trick in cleaning up R. W. Moore's front lawn. Moore decided to try the sweeper after his dog, Rip, scattered feathers over the front lawn. All the feathers were quickly gathered by the sweeper, but not before a gallery of neighbors and passers-by had collected.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Received some items from P. W. a former Kingstonian who is at present in Saratoga. An item from Saratoga Daily Forum of July 22, 1853, tells of Thomas Moore Tyrrell opening an attractive summer theatre near the Pavilion Springs, which he called The Metropolitan Theatre. It is said, that fashionable society was present in full force for the comedy, "The Soldier's Daughter," and also the farce, "First Impressions." The parquette (orchestra) and family and dress circles were conveniently and comfortably arranged and supplied with cushioned seats while private boxes were well furnished for the accommodation of families or small parties. Prices of admission were parquette and dress circle—50 cents; private boxes, $8 and $5; family circle 25 cents, and opera seats $1.

For those interested in horse racing, this 1853 item reads: "Very fast trotting was recorded by Flora Temple of New York, who beat Tacony of Philadelphia on the Union Avenue Course. The first heat was five seconds faster than was ever reached before by any trotting horse. The trot was for $1,000 for mile heats, time 4:50, 5.01½."

There is mention of the Loomis Lakehouse of 1853, where trysts of the fashionable set were held. Food in the form of bass, trout and other fish were taken directly from the cold water in which they sported to the plate cooked in the most approved manner. Woodcock, partridge, duck and venison were ayways in the larder. Also they were famous for the fried Irish potatoes.

Another item comes from the Albany Times-Union of June 5, 1949 on Monty Woolley, remember "The Man Who Came to Dinner." For on August 1, the whole city of Saratoga is to be bedecked in bunting in honor of this cinema star. It is said, there will be dancing in the street, a mammoth dinner at the Grand Union hotel. It seems the northern part of New York state is sort of proclaiming it "Monty Woolley Day." They say, it is expected that 1,000 top notch celebrities of the bluebook social world and the movie and theatre world will sit down to break bread with Monty that evening. It says: "It is the consensus of present and past Saratogians that this is a tribute to the man who has done more to publicize his native city since Israel Putnam first opened a lodging place in conection with the medical springs.

Dr. Leo W. Roohan, Saratoga dentist, is chairman of this committee. An evening banquet will be at the Grand Union hotel, as Monty's father conducted this world-famous hotel from the early 1890's for some 15 years. On its spacious veranda young Woolley rode his tricycle in those days, pedaling around the Goulds, Astors, Vanderbilts, "Diamond Jim" Brady, Lillian Russell and of course many others of that era. P. W. thought that both old and young, making their yearly excursion to Saratoga may desire to meet Hollywood and the Blue book at close range for some old time memories with the grand old man of the theatre.

Either it was our food, or that Woodstock real estate causes him to worry. He can't sue us. We read his column. Well, as we started to say before we so rudely interrupted ourselves with this crass commercialism, this place is open every night. THE FOUR SHARPS and CHARLIE SORCE are here this week-end. JOHNNY MICHAEL'S ORCHESTRA is coming back soon for a limited engagement. July 2 we'll present the LAFALCE BROTHERS. We serve food and beverages. The tariff isn't too high. You might even have a good time—but don't count on it. The waiters are polite. The bill collectors are many. "DUKE," our mixologist smiles, and now you probably want to know what the asterisk (*) means. Ya see, somebody asked us why we didn't run ads that made sense. Well, if they didn't have monkeys in the zoo nobody would go there. We've discovered that our case of insanity is real profitable.

Kingston Concert Association Sets July Date For Membership Deadline for Next Series

July 1 has been set as the absolute deadline for Kingston and area residents to subscribe for memberships in the Kingston Community Concerts Association for next season. More members are needed in order to continue the system of presenting major concerts in Kingston.

Three unusually fine concerts for the series next winter have been arranged by the local committee after much consideration. The association will present one of the leading new concert attractions, the dePaur Infantry Chorus, acclaimed in nationwide appearances; the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Fabien Sevitzky; and Tossy Spivakovsky, rated among the few top violinists of the day.

Kingston Alone

With the Poughkeepsie group cancelling out any possibility of presenting major concerts in that city, and the Newburgh society considering cutting the number of concerts from three to two and possibly one, Kingston stands alone in the mid-Hudson area in its attempt to bring a series of good music programs to its citizens.

Kingston Concert

Lack of support was the main cause of discontinuing the usual programs in both of the down river cities although neither is organized in the Community Concert plan. The Kingston association feels fortunate to be able to work toward bringing the concerts here. Nevertheless more members will be needed to bring the series planned for next year to this city.

Except for a year or two during the worst depression years, Kingston has come forth to support the Community Concert Plan, whereby artists are engaged on a non-profit, non-loss basis.

Symphony Engaged

The annual local membership campaign is conducted during the first week in May. However, this year, the campaign was extended when an opportunity to obtain a symphony orchestra was given the local group. The symphony programs always have been the most popular in Kingston, and the envy of concert program planning committees in other cities.

In announcing the deadline date, Mrs. Benjamin Johnston, 274 Clinton avenue, membership drive chairman, emphasized the importance of workers making returns to her as soon as possible so that the local contracts may be signed.

Mrs. Johnston also made clear that anyone is invited to join the group, and may do so by contacting her, telephone, 1899, or any of the workers. People in the county areas or in any of the sections of the surrounding territory who would like to hear the series are invited to join.

Admission to concerts is by membership card only and subscription in the Kingston Community Concerts Association entitles the member to attend all three of the programs planned next year.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

LITTLE CHILDREN AS ATTENDANTS

An enchanting suggestion is made in this letter: "Would four little children be too many to have at a quite large wedding? There are two very little girls and two very little boys in the family and we can't very well have one, if not all."

They would be adorable! They should walk according to height. Either two little girls and two little boys together, or one of each. The only point is to have someone look after them. This might be one (or if necessary, two) of the ushers, who at weddings have usually much more authority over very little children than have the bridesmaids, who are unavoidable conscious of the fact that they are important features of decoration.

Parties for Visitors

Dear Mrs. Post: We're to visit my married daughter in a distant city. She writes that many of her friends have planned parties for us while there. I'd like to know what our obligation is to these friends of hers?

Answer: No return is necessary—unless when you are there an opportunity suggests itself whereby you can make some return. The real obligation is your daughter's.

Picture to Newspaper

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you feel it wrong to send a picture of oneself with the notice to the papers of an engagement or a wedding? I believe you have emphasized that one should wait to be asked for a picture. But is such diffidence required today?

Answer: At the present time it is not at all wrong to send a picture, but, of course, one who does so must not be disappointed if the picture is not printed, since the editors have very little space and cannot use all of the pictures they would like to.

No Punch Cups

Dear Mrs. Post: We have a punch bowl but no cups with it. At the wedding we wondered if it would be permissable to use paper cups?

Answer: It would be nicer to have cups if you could get them—either buy them or borrow them. If you can't, then the paper ones will have to do.

Advice about clothes of the bridal party whether it is a formal evening wedding, a daytime, or summer daytime wedding in the country is given in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-3. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

County Council Picnic

At the picnic meeting of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council held at the home of Mrs. DeWitt Hasbrouck of High Falls, Monday, the resignation of Miss Hazel A. Metcalf, executive director of the council for the past three years, was accepted with regret. Preparations were made to request a successor from the National organization to assume the responsibilities September 1.

Camp Reports

Miss Metcalf will remain with the council to direct the Ulster County Camp, Wendy, at Wallkill which opens July 3. Due to the early enthusiastic registrations on the part of both county girls and those outside the county, only a few places remain. The girls can be accommodated on all age levels for the third period, July 31 to August 13.

Casper Souers, chairman of the camp committee, requested again that interested parents of Girl Scouts and others active in the organization throughout the county, visit camp and contribute in time and effort in setting it up for the coming season. He will be at Wendy each Sunday until camp opens.

Girl Scout Council went on records as becoming an affiliated agency of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies which is in the early steps of organization.

Friendship Fund

Mrs. Robert Torrens, Jr., of Port Ewen, Juliette Low chairman, announced the final contributions from the county to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund, $109.02—a nine per cent increase over the 1948 contributions. This money will be used to encourage international understanding among Girl Scout troops scattered in more than 50 countries throughout the world by means of exchange training experience and assistance given to organizations where the recent war has made continuation of the program difficult.

The next meeting of the council will be at Camp Wendy, August 1. Members of the group are invited to visit the camp in the afternoon and after supper to hold their meeting in the main lodge of Peter Pan.

Those who were present for the June meeting were Mrs. Ashton H. Hart, commissioner, who presided; Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Hasbrouck, Mrs. Ernest Jansen, High Falls; Miss Bertha Bennett, New Paltz; Mrs. Robert Torrens, Jr., Mrs. Donald Tinnie, Port Ewen; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davenport, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Everett Coty, Napanoch; Mr. and Mrs. Casper Souers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Page, Mrs. J. H. Barley, Mrs. Walter Jeghers, Mrs. Max Chirlin and Miss Metcalf of Kingston.

An all-nylon press cloth, originally designed for use on tailor shop pressing machines, is making its debut for the homemaker.

Mayor Vetoes . . .

thority or municipality of a plan or project.

And the local legislative body is defined as meaning, in a City, the Board of Aldermen, Common Council, Council, Commission or other board or body vested by its character or other law with jurisdiction to enact ordinances or local laws. In the City of Kingston, the 'local legislative body' is the Common Council. And it is this Common Council which is charged specifically by the Public Housing Law with the duty and responsibility to approve or disapprove of public housing plans or projects affecting the City of Kingston. It is to be noted that there is no provision made for such approval or disapproval by the voters of a municipality. The direct approval or disapproval of a housing plan or project could not be effected by the voters of the City of Kingston. At the most, their action would be merely advisory and the Common Council could either follow or reject their suggestions. The duty of approving or disapproving the housing plan or project, as recommended by the Kingston Housing Authority, is vested solely in the Common Council and such legislative function cannot be delegated.

It may be argued that an advisory referendum has been used heretofore in the City of Kingston and especially at the election held on November 6, 1928, when there was submitted to the electorate the proposition of whether the Common Council shall pass an ordinance authorizing the showing of moving pictures in Kingston on Sundays. The voters, in that case, approved the proposition and the Common Council accordingly adopted on November 20, 1928, an ordinance permitting Sunday movies in Kingston, N. Y. However, the use of void action in the past does not warrant its use at the present time or at any other time. The action of the Common Council in adopting a resolution authorizing the submission of the proposition of Sunday movies to the voters of the City of Kingston was a nullity. By the provisions of Section 2154 of the Penal Law of the State of New York, a Common Council is permitted to adopt an ordinance permitting Sunday movies in a city. It has been held by the courts in Reycraft vs. City of Binghamton, et al, 255 N.Y.S. 475, 138 Misc. 257, and in Hathaway vs. City of Oneonta, 266 N.Y.S. 237, that an advisory referendum on the question of whether movies should be permitted to operate on Sundays is a nullity and ineffective. The court, in Hathaway vs. City of Oneonta, Supra, at page 239, said, with reference to Section 2154 of the Penal Law:

". There is no provision in this section, or in any other statute, for the submission to the electorate of a proposition as to whether the municipal body vested with such authority shall grant such permission or not. The discretion and the power is vested solely in the Common Council in a city. The duty of determination rests upon the members of that body as the duly elected representatives of the people. A vote by the electorate for or against granting such permission can have no effect, carries no authority, and is an absolute nullity so far as the enactment by the Common Council is concerned. ***."

In the Reycraft case, supra, the court held that the resolution of the Common Council authorizing the submission of the question of the showing of Sunday movies to the electorate was unauthorized and void. The proposition of the submission of the question of Sunday movies to the voters is similar to the present proposition of a referendum on the approval or disapproval of the voters of the public housing plan recommended by the Kingston Housing Authority and approved by the State Division of Housing. Since the resolution adopted by the Common Council in one case is a nullity, it must be void also in this case wherein the matter of the approval or disapproval of a housing plan is to be submitted to the electorate.

It also must be remembered that the provision for approval or disapproval of a housing plan or project by a local legislative body is a matter of state legislation. The resolution under consideration attempts to effect a change in the state law by transferring to the voters the approval or disapproval of the Kingston Housing Authority's proposal. This is an invalid exercise of the legislative power of the Common Council, for it is a well established principle of law that a local legislative body cannot change statel aw and especially by the adoption of a resolution.

Serious consideration must also be given to the question of whether this would be a proper case for submission of a proposition by referendum to the voters of the City of Kingston. Section 9 of the Charter of the City of Kingston, provides, in part as follows:

"Sec. 9. Special elections may be ordered by the Common Council in said city or in any district, department or ward thereof for the purpose of submitting to the taxpayers of said city or of such district, department or ward thereof any proposition to construct and maintain water-works, sewers or electric-light plant or any other matter affecting the government of the city or to determine any bond or other proposition * * *."

This charter provision is quite general and inclusive and it might seem, at first blush, that a referendum of the type under consideration would be authorized. However, this charter provision must be considered in conjunction with the City Home Rule Law of the State of New York for the power to provide for a referendum must be found in such law. Otherwise, a referendum is unauthorized. The Court of Appeals of the State of New York has pointed out in matter of McCabe vs. Voorhis, 243 N. Y. 401 as follows:

"* * * The power to provide for a referendum must be found in the City Home Rule Act (Mills v. Sweeney, 219 N. Y. 213). Otherwise it is unauthorized. Direct legislation in cities must always rest on some constitutional or statutory grant of power. Government by representation is still the rule. Direct action by the people is the exception. * * *"

Such reasoning is applicable to the resolution under consideration.

The City Home Rule Law of this State provides for several types of referendum. There is a mandatory referendum required by Section 15 of such City Home Rule Law in certain specified cases where a local law changes the form or composition of a local legislative body, changes the veto power of the mayor, changes the law of succession to the elective officer of Mayor, abolishes or creates an elective office, provides a new charter, etc. Sections 16 and 17 of the same law provide for a referendum on the petition of qualified voters and specifies the local laws that are subject to a referendum on petition. Section 19-a of the same law provides for a referendum for adoption of amendments to a city charter. These are the only types of referendum authorized by the City Home Rule Law. And none of the types of referendum includes, either directly or by inference, the matter of the approval or disapproval of a public housing plan or project. Therefore, in view of the ruling of the Court of Appeals, that the authority for a referendum must be found in the City Home Rule Law, it must be concluded that a referendum on the approval of a housing plan or project would be unauthorized by the existing statutes.

It also should be noted that even if such approval of a housing plan or project might be proper material for a referendum, the proposition proposed by the resolution under discussion would not be in proper form. Reference to the above mentioned sections of the City Home Rule Law discloses that they specifically provide for a referendum on a resolution. And what is being considered here is a resolution which does not purport to be a local law. This is dissimilar from the referendum held at the election of 1947 and of 1948, wherein local laws pertaining to the salaries of firemen and policemen were submitted to the voters of the City of Kingston.

Although it may not be germane to this discussion of the validity of the resolution adopted by the Common Council on June 7th, 1949, it is believed that consideration should be given to the fact that by the time of the election to be held on November 8th, 1949, a referendum might be purely academic. There is a constant call from other cities for loans from the State Division of Housing for public housing plans or projects. It would seem questionable in view of such demand whether the State Housing Commissioner will continue his approval of the plan of the Kingston Housing Authority during the months until the approval or disapproval of such housing plan or project is registered by the voters at the polls in November 8th, 1949. In the event that the Commissioner's approval of the housing plan is withdrawn, the favorable action of the voters and the Common Council in November, 1949 would be ineffective in securing a state loan for a housing project for the City of Kingston.

In view of the foregoing discussion, it must be concluded that the referendum proposed by the resolution adopted by the Common Council on June 7, 1949, is unauthorized and improper under the existing laws and court decisions and that it is the sole duty and responsibility of the Common Council to approve or disapprove the plan recommended by the Kingston Housing Authority and approved by the State Division of Housing. Therefore, in view of the invalidity and impropriety of such a referendum, it is recommended that such resolution be vetoed.

Very truly yours,
JAMES G. CONNELLY,
Corporation Counsel.

Resolution Adopted.

WHEREAS, the Common Council of the City of Kingston made certain recommendations to the City Housing Authority and requested that the plan submitted be taken up with the State Housing Authority, and

WHEREAS, the communications from the City Housing Authority and from the Attorney for the State Housing Authority indicate that the proposals were not acceptable upon the ground that they would be more expensive to the city, and

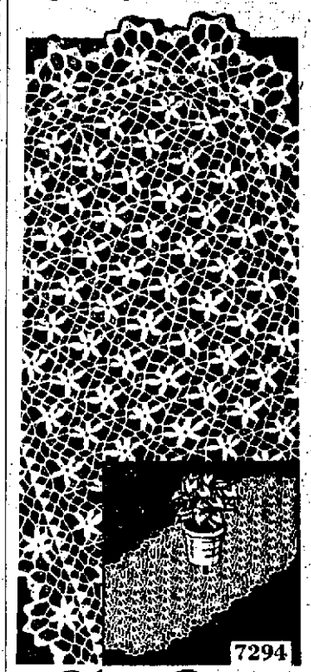

WHEREAS, as heretofore indicated, I am in favor of public housing for our city, but there are insufficient facts before me to allow an intelligent decision, and

WHEREAS, the housing proposed by the City Housing Authority and approved by the State Housing Authority is to cost $1,200,000, and the magnitude of the project will affect the pocketbook of every taxpayer in the City of Kingston,

NOW THEREFORE, be it

RESOLVED, that the plan recommended by the City Housing Authority and approved by the State Housing Authority be offered to the voters of the City of Kingston in the form of a proposition at the Election, to be held on the 8th day of November, 1949, and the approval or disapproval of the voters thereby registered.

Bridgeport Bees Spoil Tellefsen's Debut in Series Opener, 8 to 4

Seventh Inning Rally Overwhelms Columbia Star

The Colonials introduced their new collegiate pitching acquisition—Tellis "Red" Tellefsen of Columbia University—last night against the league leading Bridgeport Bees at municipal stadium.

And for six innings the ex-Lion looked like the real goods, sporting a 4-2 lead and breezing along with a sharp breaking curve.

Then came the barrage—four singles and a timely double by Handy for a 6-4 Bridgeport lead. The Bees added two more in the ninth after Manager Ollie Byers had protected their lead to register a decisive 8-4 triumph.

Paules, the hard hitting first sacker paced the Bees with a pair of triples and a single and his three baggers accounted for tallies in the first and ninth innings. Handy poled a double and two singles, the double driving in two runs to break a 4-4 deadlock in the seventh inning rally.

Elenchin Stars

Johnny Elenchin accounted for three Kingston runs with a double and triple. Danny Perlmutter had three singles and Gerald Murray a pair of solos for the Colonials.

Fritz Luciano started for Bridgeport and was removed with one out in the eighth when Murray opened with a single to center. Manager Byers took over and Gil Njirich promptly tagged him for a bloop single over Handy's head in short right. O'Dell bunted both runners up a notch but Byers squelched the threat by getting McNamara on called strikes and Pluchino on a screaming grounder to short.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

By JACK HAND

Credit the Detroit Tigers with stopping the New York Yankee cakewalk in the American League.

With fan attention focused on the St. Louis Cards' sizzling spurt in the National, the hustling Tigers have been giving Casey Stengel a rough time.

Stengel's Yanks took a 6-game lead into Detroit after Sunday's split in St. Louis. Now the margin is 3½ and sinking fast. Red Rolfe's Tigers have won eight of their last 10 games.

Art Houtteman, a young man who nearly lost his life in a serious auto crash at Lakeland, Fla., in spring training time, did the latest job on the Yanks—a six-hit, 9-5, Tiger triumph. It was the Yanks' fourth straight loss, three to Detroit.

Last year Houtteman, the tough luck kid, won only two and lost 16. He dropped his first eight starts. Already he has a 3-1 record for '49 with prospects of a fine season.

A's Nip Chisox

Connie Mack's Philadelphia A's also closed in on the Yanks, securing third place, five games out of first, by edging the Chicago White Sox, 1-0, in 12 innings. Dick Fowler won a tight duel with Bill Wight on a walk, Luke Appling's two-base error and an infield grounder.

Dick Starr, a non-winner who has lost seven, finally made the victory column, 11-0, as the St. Louis Browns made merry with Ellis Kinder, Chuck Stobbs and Frank Quinn. It was the first shutout thrown by a Brownie pitcher this season and the Red Sox's seventh defeat in their nine games.

Brooklyn clung to that half game lead in the National by subduing Chicago, 9-5, while both St. Louis and Boston won to remain right on the Dodgers' heels.

Ralph Branca was unable to stand the prosperity of a 9-0 lead. He was knocked out in the eighth when the Cubs scored five times. The Dodgers wrapped it up early with a six-run blast in the second that routed their old jinx, Lefty Johnny Schmitz.

Follet Stops Giants

Howie Pollet, back in his 1946 form, whipped the slumping New York Giants with six hits, 4-1, as the Cardinals made it six straight wins and 15 out of 17. Pollet, with five straight victories, might have hurled the third St. Louis shutout of the series sweep but for an unearned run in the sixth following Eddie Kazak's error.

Bob Hall, a Johnny-come-lately in Billy Southworth's starting rotation, turned back Cincinnati with seven hits as Boston romped home with a 10-2 decision. It was Hall's second start and first since May 20.

Bill Salkeld hit the only homer of the game, in fact the only one of the day in the National.

The Phillies squeaked past Pittsburgh, 4-3, in 18 innings, the longest game in the majors since 1946. Del Ennis' single, a double by Andy Seminick and Jack Mayo's fly ball broke it up in the 18th, after Murry Dickson had hurled 11 scoreless relief innings.

Dickson, who has trouble hitting the winner's circle since he was purchased for $125,000 from St. Louis, suffered his ninth loss despite the fine effort. Jim Konstanty shut out the Pirates in the last nine innings to earn his first victory of the year.

Ponder, Palestinian Top Belmont Choices

New York, June 10 (AP)—Paddock pundits pick ponder and Palestinian for Saturday's Belmont stakes, but long shot addicts are eyeing Sun Bahram—a dark horse, literally and figuratively.

The dark bay colt, by Bahram from Suntica, is bred ideally for the $75,000-Added Fixture's mile and a half distance, longest the current crop of three-year-olds has been asked to travel.

His parents passed along to Sun Bahram some of their noted route-running ability. Bahram won the 1935 Epsom Derby and England's triple crown. Unbeaten in nine starts as a two and three-year-old, he entered stud in 1936 and was imported to the U. S. in 1940. He cost an American syndicate a reported $160,000.

K.H.S. 1949 Varsity Tennis Squad

Coach Theron Culver, upper left in civvies, really was not that much concerned about the 1949 performance of the Kingston High School tennis varsity. After a slow start, they finished the campaign with a respectable record of seven wins and three defeats and second place in the DUSO League. Next to the coach are Walt Smith, Jack Kriz and Charles Lowery. Kneeling: Richard Nash, George Carpouzis and Jay Rider. (Freeman Photo)

Secure Two .300 Hitters in Move To Add Power

New Players Make Debut Tonight

In a move designed to add batting punch to a badly sagging attack, the Colonials today announced the acquisition of catcher Jose Abreu and outfielder Al Thomaier, a pair of .300 hitters, from the Poughkeepsie Chiefs in exchange for outfielder Don "Digger" O'Dell and catcher Johnny Pluchino.

It was a straight player trade with no cash involved.

Thomaier and Abreu are expected in the Colonial lineup tonight against the Bridgeport Bees at municipal stadium. The game will mark the first Ladies' Night of the season.

Thomaier Has .330

According to latest Colonial League batting averages, Thomaier was hitting at a .330 clip, while Abreu was sporting a .326 figure.

O'Dell, one of the Colonials' most popular performers last season, was floundering down around .225, while Pluchino showed .226 for 17 contests.

Personalities figured in both ends of the deal and O'Dell's transfer may come as a surprise to some Colonial rooters.

It was no secret that Thomaier, one of the league's better outfielders, was openly feuding with Manager Dutch Weingartner in Poughkeepsie and was headed elsewhere.

The Colonials on the other hand were not satisfied with Pluchino's batting and all-round play, while O'Dell was considered one of the big busts of the season.

In announcing the trade, President Ted Laviano indicated it was only the beginning of a series of moves planned by the locals.

"I am looking for second base strength, a left handed hitting first baseman and another pitcher," he said. We have to find batting punch quickly, if we hope to finish out the season."

Withdraw Indians From Pro League

Albany, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—The Poughkeepsie Indians have withdrawn from the Eastern Professional football league, Commissioner J. Emmett Dowling announced last night. The withdrawal reduces the league to 11 teams, five of them in the eastern division and six in the western.

Dowling said Carl A. Beck, Jr., president of the Indians, had written that the team had failed financially. The Indians placed second in eastern division standings in 1948 and 1947.

An eastern division meeting will be held June 15 in Saratoga Springs to consider possible replacements and the 1949 schedule. The date of the western division meeting has not been set.

Les Kennedy's 69 Leads Open Golf

Chicago, June 10 (AP)—The National Open Golf championship looks like a Tom, Dick and Harry tournament after the first round with Les Kennedy, one of the lesser-known pros, pacing the field with a two-under par 69.

Kennedy, 31 year old Pawtucket, R. I. shooter, competing in his first open, posted his top ranking score after touring Medinah's treacherous No. 3 course whose par is 36-35—71.

Only five players broke par yesterday in a field of 162 starters in the 49th open tourney. Seven others matched par over the nearly 7,000 yards of hills and heavy woods.

Kennedy, the red haired Rhode Islander, goes to the post for today's second 18-hole round with a one stroke lead.

Rybinaker Loses Four Hitter on Walks, Errors

A City League pitching hero of the past—Bob "Schoolboy" Bush—operated with his pristine touch to twirl Chez Emile to an impressive 7 to 2 victory over the hapless Colonial Merchants in yesterday's feature at the Athletic Field.

The one-time schoolboy wonder permitted only four hits and struck out 14 batters to gain the decision over another sturdy performer—Ed Rybinaker. The Merchant flinger, however, was wilder than a March hare and nullified nine strikeouts with a dozen bases on balls.

Doyle Hits Homer

One of the blows off Bush was a home run over the right field fence by Jack Doyle in the second inning. The victory was Chez Emile's second in three starts and placed them in a third position tie with Morgan's Restaurant.

Despite the frequency of strikeouts there was a fair flourish of extra base hitting. Bill Glaser, Bush's receiver, clouted a pair of doubles and Rybinaker had one. Bob Gill poled a triple and drove in three runs for Chez Emile while Doyle had the four master.

Chezzies Score Early

Chez Emile cinched the contest as early as the first inning when they assaulted Rybinaker for three runs. The Merchant hurler started his own miseries with a pair of walks, Link Crosby singled and Bob Gill tripled. Rybinaker forced across another run in the second on successive walks to R. Bush, Koch, Crosby and San Felipe.

Two runs in the Chezzie fifth were the result of a pair of walks, an error by Davis, a stolen base and fielder's choice. They don't come much cheaper. The final marker in the sixth was legitimate, Bill Glaser doubling behind a pass to Bob Gill.

The Merchants garnered their second tally in the seventh when Vince Clearwater stole home.

Nichols Coached Here

Marshall, Mo.—Little Missouri Valley College, noted for its post-season football bowl performances the past several years, has more than passing interest in Charles (Kid) Nichols, recently nominated to the Baseball Hall of Fame. Nichols, one-time pitching great for the Boston Braves, coached baseball at Missouri Valley for two seasons after retiring from the professional game. Nichols' team had a losing season in 1915, but missed the conference championship by one game in 1916, losing only to the Northeast Missouri State Teachers of Kirksville.

The outfield fences at Plant Field, Cincinnati's spring training base at Tampa, Fla., are exactly the same distance from homeplate as the fences in Crosley Field, home park of the Reds.

A STEAL FOR ROBINSON

Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodger second baseman, loses his hat as he pilfers third base on the front end of a double steal in the second inning of the game with the Chicago Cubs at Ebbets Field, N. Y. Frank Gustine, Cubs' third baseman, leaps high to take a throw from catcher Al Walker. The umpire is Lee Ballanfant. Gil Hodges, Dodger first baseman, stole second on the same play.

Lithuanian General Works as Factory Aide

Cluver City, Calif., June 10 (AP)—A one-time commander-in-chief of the Lithuanian army goes to work today assembling airplane hydraulic valves in a little back shop here.

But Gen. Stasys Rastikis says he is "happy as a bird" behind a work bench at the Hartwell Aviation Co.

The 53-year-old general starts work at the bottom less than a month after he and his wife, Helen Marie, 46, arrived in New York as displaced persons. They were sick and exhausted after nine years of fighting, hiding, running and imprisonment at the hands of the Russians and Germans.

Underground reports say that one of their three daughters is dead. From the other two, also whisked away to Siberia, has come no word. Mrs. Rastikis, arrested with the girls, was imprisoned but eventually released to rejoin her husband in the Lithuanian underground.

How the general came to work here is a story in itself. Clark Hartwell, the aviation company owner, met the Rev. Joseph Concius, president of the United Lithuanian Relief in America, at Lake Arrowhead, Calif. Father Concius asked Hartwell if he could use a good man. Hartwell said "Sure" and the "good man" turned out to be Gen. Rastikis.

Through an interpreter the general says he is pleasantly impressed with America except for the automobiles—"There are so many of them it is frightening."

As for war with Russia, he says "It is inevitable," but has been delayed by Russian respect for the atom bomb and completion of a five-year Russian arms program next year.

Famed Cartoonist Dies

Chicago, June 10 (AP)—John T. McCutcheon, 79, famous cartoonist for the Chicago Tribune for 43 years and former war correspondent, died today at his home in suburban Lake Forest. McCutcheon, who won the Pulitzer Prize for cartoons in 1931, had been ill since 1946 when he retired from active work at The Tribune.

Says Owen Morbid

Riverside, Calif., June 10 (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Garnier, 53, had an intimate as well as business relationship with her wealthy employer, John E. Owen, says counsel defending her against charges of murdering him at his ranch April 22. The intimate relationship "waned somewhat" when Owen became 65, said Attorney Sam H. Allen. Owen's physical condition, Allen continued, made him "irritable and morbid" and "he threatened on several occasions to take his own life." He added, "she went into the bedroom and saw him standing by the bed with a gun. He said he was going to shoot and she feared he was going to shoot either himself or her. Then she ran and struggled with him for the gun. She remembers only a flash of fire and remembers herself with the gun."

Just a Candidate

San Francisco, June 10 (AP)—James C. Petrillo finally has opposition for the presidency of the American Federation of Musicians. But even his rival, Everett Henne of Mattoon, Ill., doesn't expect to poll more than a few votes in today's union election. "It's all right with me. This is a democratic union," said Petrillo.

Hard Picking Leader

Washington, June 10 (AP)—A brisk committee argument over choosing an investigator to lead Congress' B-36 bomber inquiry subsided today. That left the hunt for a staff chief back where it started. The committe had no trouble outlining an investigation to cover almost everything connected with military air power, but it hit a snag on picking a man to run the show.

Says Strong Militia Needed for Security

Easton, Pa., June 10 (AP)—The United States wants peace and security but not peace at any price, General Omar N. Bradley, army chief of staff, said today.

"Technically, we have peace now—peace defined as the absence of armed conflict — but certainly we do not have security," General Bradley said in an address prepared for delivery at the Lafayette College commencement exercises.

The American people and their leaders must accept the belief that "military strength cannot be a last resort device for the extraction of poorly forged political irons from the fire," General Bradley said.

"It is an unfortunate but valid criticism of modern international negotiations," he added, "that a nation's voice whispers or commands in exact ratio to its moral strength and military potential."

General Bradley was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of science along with General Carl Spaatz, air force chief of staff, Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration, received the degree of doctor of letters.

Sewage Engineers Well Treated Here

The following letter of commendation from Harry F. Edinger, Ulster county director of environmental sanitation, was received recently by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk:

"On behalf of the New York State Sewage Works Association and as the chairman of the local arrangements committee at the time of their meeting June 6 and 7 in Kingston, I wish to extend our thanks and appreciation for the courtesy shown at the time of the meeting.

"The group was pleased with the facilities available at the headquarters hotel and were well fed and well housed.

"The sewage treatment plant was the cause of some comment, not so much for the operation which was expected to be good, but for the general appearance of the grounds, buildings, and basic knowledge of the operation.

"Please extend, therefore, my personal thanks and that of the association for the kindnesses shown us by Mr. Steuding and Mr. Whelan at the sewage treatment plant, Mr. Kotrady at the Governor Clinton Hotel and Mr. Kurdt of the Chamber of Commerce."

Weather: fair.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 43 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 70 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity — Mostly sunny and mild this afternoon. High near 75. Fair and mild tonight, low near 60. Saturday, increasing cloudiness and slightly warmer, high 75 to 80. Gentle to moderate southerly winds through Saturday.

FAIR AND WARMER

Eastern New York — Fair, slightly warmer today, and in the interior tonight. Saturday, increasing cloudiness and rather warm.

Nobody Wins Traffic Battle

Brussels (AP)—This Belgian city with its thousands of autos, bicycles and trucks sees plenty of accidents these days. A recent street incident, however, had even the hardened police shaking their heads sadly. This time it was four autos fighting for "lebensraum" in Waterloo Boulevard. The result was that all four ended up ready for the scrap heap and one driver retired from the fray with minor bruises.

The principal agricultural product of Spain are wheat, barley, oats, rye, olives and fruit.

Jersey Ministers to Get $200 Salary Increase

Madison, N. J., June 10 (AP)—The Newark annual conference of the Methodist Church has approved an average increase of $200 in the minimum support of its members.

The minimum support fund supplements the salaries of ministers who are receiving less than the minimum set by the conference. The fund is administered by the commission on ministerial support.

All members of the conference earning more than the minimum are assessed on their cash salaries to provide the funds.

Here is the schedule of supports for the coming year:

$2,500 for full members of the conference who are married; $1,900 for full members, unmarried; $2,200 for married members on trial; and $1,800 for unmarried members on trial.

The conference voted, on recommendation of the deaconess board, to retain the present salary for deaconesses working within the conference at $1,200, but to double the present annual maintenance allowance of $600.

The group's statistician, the Rev. Merrit H. Webb of Suffern, N. Y., reported a total church membership of 80,057 in more than 300 churches in the conference area of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. This is an increase of 979 over last year, he said.

He added that Sunday school membership went up 2,652, bringing the total now to 47,709.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York is presiding over the conference, which ends Sunday.

KiwanisClubHears Of German Trials

A first hand account of the trial of German war criminals at Nuremberg was given at the regular meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday noon by Harry Hill, Jr., of Rhinebeck, who was an attorney during the trials.

Hill's talk was given in the humorous vein, rather than stressing the political significance of the trials. His account of how he returned to this country in the "Sacred Cow," presidential plane, with Secretary of State and Mrs. James Byrnes, delighted the audience.

Hill was presented to the club by George L. Chilson, in charge of the program for the meeting.

Announcement was made that 17 members of the local club will travel to Monticello Monday for an inter-club meeting. At this meeting Roger Loughran of the Kingston Kiwanis Club will install new members of the Monticello club, and the traveling plaque will be turned over to Monticello by local Kiwanians. The plaque, which travels from club to club in this district, was presented to Kingston by Poughkeepsie Kiwanians last week.

Also during the inter-club program will be Fred L. Van Deusen, magician, and Ronald Herrick with his dancing puppets. The meeting will be held at the Paddock in Monticello.

Restricted

English makers of domestic baths now are required to concentrate on one model, to save wastage. There are 998 different types of bath in use at present, ranging from miniature swimming pools to hip-baths.

Miss Buck Gives Denial

New York, Judne 10 (AP)—Author Pearl Buck, replying to claims made in a California legislative report, said yesterday "I am anti-Communist to the last drop of blood." The report by the California State Senate Committee on un-American activities had listed Miss Buck and several hundred others as having "followed or appeased" the Communist party line.

ROLAND YOUNG,
famous star of stage and screen says:
"I prefer finer-tasting SCHENLEY richer, mellower because it gives you OLDER WHISKY*"
Rare 5 6 and 7 year old whisky, skillfully blended with pre-war quality grain neutral spirits, make Schenley richer, finer-tasting always!

Compare Schenley's Back Label with any other leading brand! The label on the back of the bottle must tell the age of the whisky in the blend. Comparison proves that Schenley gives you older whisky . . . yet you pay no more.
